

Clinical Engineering Conference

23rd September 2025 | Radisson Blu Stansted Hotel

Join industry leaders, innovators and professionals at the NPAG Clinical Engineering Conference on 23rd September 2025.

Under this year's theme - Development through Innovation - hear from speakers on the future of hospitals and wider delivery of healthcare. Technology is central to development and the conference provides a day of learning, networking and ideas. What are the opportunities and challenges for Clinical Engineers and how will the profession develop?

Advancements in medical equipment will be explored along with the improved outcomes and efficiencies this can bring to clinical practice. How will the role of the Clinical Engineer change, what skills, expertise and training will the future workforce require and how do we regulate, manage and maintain emerging technologies?

Delegates will also hear about national initiatives and innovation within the field.
