

MIRANDA — PATH

After several years as a dedicated stay-at-home parent, Miranda made the brave decision to return to the workforce. Like many who take that step, she faced challenges.

The job market had changed, her confidence was shaken and after several interviews without success, she began to feel discouraged.

That's when our team stepped in to help this PATH participant. We provided Miranda with professional interview clothing, helping her look and feel her best. Our Business Services Specialist Chad Marr worked closely with her to refresh her résumé and conducted mock interviews to rebuild her confidence and sharpen her skills.

With renewed determination and the right support, Miranda began applying again, and this time her efforts paid off. She successfully landed a new position, marking the start of an exciting new chapter in her career.

Miranda's story is a wonderful reminder that with encouragement, preparation and a little extra support, it's never too late to reach your goals and re-enter the workforce with confidence.
