TERRA COTTA

The words "Terra Cotta" literally mean "baked earth". Used by man for thousands of years, surviving ancient artifacts give testimony to the durability of this special substance. Landscapers and gardeners have always prized terra cotta for its porosity and texture which maintain a proper degree of soil moisture – neither too wet or dry.

Created by Italian craftsmen using designs and processes passed down from generation to generation, these terra cotta pots are unique in our plastic, throwaway society.

Unlike American or Mexican red clay, the Italian terra cotta clay is green when wet and is used as it comes from the ground. The clay is handpacked into chalk molds which create great detail in the finished products. The items are then unmolded, hand-finished for smoothness and finally kiln-fired at 2000 degrees for four full days. It is during this high fire process that the clay turns the traditional reddish-brown color.

Terra Cotta is one of the last hand crafted products available on a wide scale. It adds a classic and timeless feel to any environment.

SANDSTONE

The nature of our Sandstone has a number of advantages, one of which is the way that it ages much like natural stone, developing a rich patina quite rapidly. The material's ability to be cast into virtually any shape allows our craftsman unlimited design possibilities.

In Europe, dry-cast has been around for centuries and has proven itself to be durable, attractive and a high quality alternative to other materials in garden and architectural ornamentation. The nature of our stone has a number of advantages, one of which is the way that it ages much like natural stone, developing a rich patina quite rapidly. The material's ability to be cast into virtually any shape allows our craftsman unlimited design possibilities. Our most recent improvements in mix design and curing methods have given our stone greatly increased strength, weather tolerance and resistance to abrasion.

VICENZA STONE

Vicenza Stone is a natural limestone quarried in Italy. In use since Roman times, this material has proven its durability and beauty. After sculpting, Vicenza stone continues to cure and harden. Exposure to the elements actually toughens it, making it ideal medium for outdoor fountains and statuary. Vicenza Stone was used by the celebrated 16th century Italian architect Palladio.

The pieces shown below represent only a small sample of our extensive line of figurines, statues, busts, gargoyles, ornaments, fountains, wells, urns, benches, tables, mantle pieces, gazebos, lamp posts, balustrades, columns and obelisks – ranging from small to monumental.

The designs are typically neo-classical Greek and Roman style, as well as religious statuary. In addition to this vast line, we offer custom fabrication of any style, type, size, design or description.

Our pieces can be seen at such locations as the Golden Nugget Casino in Atlantic City, the Ritz Carlton in Los Angeles, the Sheraton Princeville in Kauai, the Ansett Hotel in Australia, and in distinguished homes in Beverly Hills, Bel Air, Switzerland, Italy, France, Germany, England, Japan and throughout the world.
