The Silvestri family has been in the statuary business for five generations. Arcangelo Silvestri along with his two brothers and a brother in law settled in San Francisco in 1900. They began manufacturing ornamental moulding and figurines out of plaster of paris. At that time their most popular statue was that of the kewpie doll, which they peddled from door to door. Their business prospered until the Great Depression. They then returned to their native village of Bagni di Lucca in the province of Tuscany, Italy.

In 1956, Arcangelo's son Adorno and his son Alfeo Luigi Silvestri immigrated to the United States to settle in San Francisco and together founded A. Silvestri Company Fine Statuary.

A. Luigi Silvestri and his family continue the traditional family heritage of statue manufacturing by bringing you the finest quality statuary. Today we offer a wide selection of reproductions of European fountains, statues and garden ornaments.
