Prayer to Saint Michael the Archangel

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle.
Be our defense against the wickedness and snares of the Devil.
May God rebuke him,
we humbly pray,
and do thou,
O Prince of the heavenly hosts,
by the power of God,
thrust into hell Satan,
and all the evil spirits,
who prowl about the world
seeking the ruin of souls.
Amen.

Twenty-Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Hello Friends,

As we begin our Fall season (for many among us it is a favorite time of year, and it is something that we are particularly known for in the “Midwest!”) we begin a shift in our liturgical year. In these last couple months of what we call Ordinary Time, we focus on the real but unseen aspects of our faith, and that includes angels. Late September and early October is “Angel Season” in the Catholic Church! September 29th is the Feast of the Archangels (particularly Michael, Gabriel, and Raphael) and Oct 2nd is the Memorial of the Guardian Angels.

Many people (including the “unchurched”) have a complete and unquestioned confidence in angels. This is just about universal (across cultures) and it is especially the case for those with a hopeful disposition and it’s the case (I’ve found) with those often in stressful situations. There are plenty of people with little to no formal religion, but they can very easily visualize the helpful and supportive role that angels have. And many people make the connection that if the angels are good, God is good. For us Catholics, who have a long history with angels, this makes sense.

(Angels are represented in the Bible from the Book of Genesis to the Book of Revelation!) Ultimately this goes to show that despite the changing of the times most people still believe in supernatural phenomenon and spirits, especially angels. But there is a theological disconnect when we call people angels. Of course, we know what people are trying to say when they say someone is so kind that they are an “angel”; and we know what someone means when someone special dies and they call them an “angel”. But this as comforting as it may be, is not accurate. None of us can become angels. Our Catholic word for a deceased person who makes it to Heaven and who can even intercede and help the living, is Saint. We hope to be good people now (saints in the making) and we hope to become Saints. Only an angel (pure spirit) can be an angel and only a person can become a saint. (The Archangels are unique exceptions.) The angels serve God and can help us. Cultivate a good relationship with you angel and the angels, they are the glorious spirits who are God’s eternal adorers and helpers! –Fr. George Mahas—

And so, as a reminder, here is what the Church teaches about angels. (This is from the Catechism of the Catholic Church.) St. Augustine says: "Angel' is the name of their office, not of their nature. If you seek the name of their nature, it is 'spirit'; if you seek the name of their office, it is 'angel': from what they are, 'spirit', from what they do, 'angel.'" With their whole beings the angels are servants and messengers of God. Because they "always behold the face of my Father who is in heaven" they are the "mighty ones who do his word, hearkening to the voice of his word".

As purely spiritual creatures angels have intelligence and will: they are personal and immortal creatures, surpassing in perfection all visible creatures, as the splendor of their glory bears witness...

Angels have been present since creation and throughout the history of salvation, announcing this salvation from afar or near and serving the accomplishment of the divine plan: they closed the earthly paradise; protected Lot; saved Hagar and her child; stayed Abraham's hand; communicated the law by their ministry; led the People of God; announced births and callings; and assisted the prophets, just to cite a few examples. Finally, the angel Gabriel announced the birth of the Precursor and that of Jesus himself...From infancy to death human life is surrounded by their watchful care and intercession.

Get your costumes ready—it's almost time for Trunk or Treat! On Thursday, October 29th, the ICY Group will be spreading smiles (and plenty of candy!) during this spook-tacular evening.

To help make the night extra sweet, we're collecting candy & monetary donations. Every little bit helps fill the treat bags & bring joy to our kids and families.

Donations can be dropped off at the Parish Office during normal business hours. Thank you for helping us make this a fun & memorable night for all!
