

Enhance your finance-related internship this summer with the

Wall Street Exchange

PROGRAM

"WSE provided a front-row seat to the expertise of leaders in finance and tech. Their advice was invaluable as I transition into life as an emerging professional. I've already begun applying the insights they shared, and the impact has been immediate. It truly is a must-have experience for anyone starting out in the industry."

- Kaitlin Gardner, Fordham University Intern at Broadridge Solutions

For 50 years, Wall Street Exchange has opened doors for driven college students seeking to launch careers in the competitive financial job market. WSE is not an internship; it is a career accelerator designed to amplify the value of your summer internship experience.

Designed for ambitious rising seniors, weekly events will strengthen your skills and prepare you to execute a successful full-time job search within finance and other related fields such as technology, engineering, or math.

You'll gain practical insights from industry professionals and develop the strategic perspective required to make confident career decisions.

Participation benefits include:

- Strengthen your job search strategy through workshops focused on building and communicating your unique professional brand
- Cultivate leadership approaches and essential interpersonal skills that support long-term career growth
- Expand your professional network by connecting with fellow program participants as well as interns and professionals from our sponsor firms

ACCEPTANCE TO WSE IS COMPETITIVE. THE APPLICATION DEADLINE IS MAY 21, 2026.

To qualify, you must be an undergraduate, have completed your junior year, and have:

- A goal to obtain a paid summer internship with a financial services firm or within a financial function at a non-financial firm
- A preferred cumulative G.P.A. of 3.0 or higher on a 4.0 scale
- An interest in exploring a career in finance or business
- A fully complete application containing all requested information
