Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Take care to guard against all greed.”

LIGHTER SIDE

“You often face your greatest opposition just before your miracle.”

Message from Fr. Tony Hesse:

Although I have read the readings for this weekend, I still do not know what I am going to preach. Because I am trying to get my bulletin blurb done earlier in the week so I am ready when we have a LPI doing our bulletin publications starting in a few weeks (I'll explain more in next week's blurb), I am writing it on Wednesday night. However, I just want to give you the heads up that I may preach on this similar message this weekend. But yet, there is nothing wrong with preaching the message of stewardship. Similarly, I recall my former pastor telling me that when he heard someone ask why he kept on preaching on forgiveness, he responded, "Until you start doing it." In other words, I should never be tired of preaching on "stewardship", and you should never be tired of hearing it. Face it, we all need to hear and preach the message of stewardship – being generous with God's blessings He gave us.

If you noticed that the readings this weekend also speak about thinking less of ourselves and being more generous with others. Take for example, in our 1st reading from the Book of Ecclesiastes ("Vanity of vanities, says Qoheleth, vanity of vanities! All things are vanity!" (Eccl 1:20)), we heard about how vanity (being prideful and self-important) causes us to only think about ourselves. Then our 2nd reading from the Letter of St. Paul to the of the Colossians, "Put to death, then, the parts of you that are earthly: immorality, impurity, passion, evil desire, and the greed that is idolatry" (3:5). Finally in our Gospel from St. Luke, we hear Jesus's warning, "Take care to guard against all greed, for though one may be rich, one's life does not consist of possessions" (12:15).

Although money and possessions are nice to have, they should never control us. But instead, we need to follow the advice from our Responsorial Psalm refrain, "If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts" (Psalm 90). Every gift we have been given is a gift from God and should return to God. And over the last couple of years, our parishes have been blessed with some tremendous monetary gifts. We have received a few estates to St. Catherine for caring for the parish expenses, building and maintenance projects, and kitchen upkeep to the tune of $3.5 million. Then, in regard to St. Anne, we have been blessed with some wonderful gifts to support the Fr. Diehl Endowment ($3.9 million) and to support the New Building Project (collecting so far $11.8 million). However, not only do I encourage that we go above and being the goal of $12.2 million for unexpected expenses and for us to be able to get decent classroom sizes, storage space, and making sure we have enough rooms to cover our needs as a parish and a school, but we also need to contribute to our churches and school because it is in scripture, and ultimately, it is what we are called to do. It is what God is expecting us. God does not want our hearts to be hardened. He wants us to love through them and with our wallets/purses.

Please be generous as God has been generous to us!!!

-Our Team's Thoughts: from 2025 Catholic Heart Workcamp, Kansas City [Part 2]

CHWC is AMAZING! There's so many good people here. I really saw God in reconciliation. I felt like the priest was reading my mind and he made me feel so good about myself. I also felt God during Adoration. After this week, I feel I've grown so much in my faith. I felt so welcome in my group and they are all so amazing. – student

-When I really was close with God was when I was at CHWC. During 4 corners I prayed to God and I could see him through the lightness. During that time I really felt close with God, it made me more faithful and happier. I really got close with this one man, he really understood what I was going through. I will never forget these amazing memories I made this week with amazing people. – student

-CHWC has definitely brought me closer to God in ways I never thought. Not just by prayer, but through people. Everybody is the best part. – student

-Adoration: One of the most memorable and impacting experiences every year from the emotion and unity felt with God and others. – student

-My group was the last one's done with our job of dismantling a deck and rebuilding it without a plan. Tear down, investigate wood, tear down more, check wood for rot, tear down to good lumber and rebuild. Others helped us finish...so thankful. – team

-God incidences happen all the time, but are easier to see when you're with a whole bunch of faith filled people. Things happen like a professional painter stopping at a house to give the team 30 ft. ladders to use, along with cold water, so the team could reach the peak of the house. Another incident: my team worked hard at a thrift store all week and on the last day asked to go shopping. We had ½ hr. before the bus would pick us up. I told them to go ahead, but I kept working and one by one they all they came back and went right back to work! – team
