NSN Global Services LLC
Dover, Delaware, United States of America
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
October 25, 2026

NSN Global Services Completes Successful Closed Business Consultation with the United Nations Working Group on Business and Human Rights

Dover, Delaware — NSN Global Services LLC today confirmed the successful conclusion of a closed business consultation with the United Nations Working Group on the issue of human rights and transnational corporations and other business enterprises (Special Procedures of the Human Rights Council). The consultation was conducted in connection with the Working Group's forthcoming thematic report to the 65th session of the Human Rights Council (June 2027) on "Closing remedy and accountability gaps in business: Addressing legacy human rights harms."

The closed-format consultation provided an opportunity for NSN Global Services to contribute perspectives as a private-sector participant focused on education technology, systems innovation, and global education effectiveness. Discussions cantered on the application of the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights (UNGPs) to legacy impacts, transitions in ownership or control, human rights due diligence, and mechanisms that support accountability and access to remedy.

NSN Global Services approaches such engagements in line with its established commitment to the UNGPs, including the corporate responsibility to respect human rights, conduct ongoing due diligence, and support appropriate remedy processes. The company maintains a Global Human Rights Policy and related annual statements that guide its operations across education technology platforms, partnerships, and supply chains.

The consultation was closed in nature. Specific inputs, exchanges, or outcomes remain confidential consistent with the process established by the Working Group. NSN Global Services values the opportunity to engage constructively with United Nations Special Procedures and other stakeholders on issues relevant to responsible business conduct.

> "We appreciate the invitation to contribute to the Working Group's examination of legacy human rights harms and accountability gaps," said Euan Hallifax, Chief Executive Officer of NSN Global Services. "As a company dedicated to improving the effectiveness and efficiency of education systems worldwide, we remain committed to integrating human rights considerations into our technology platforms, governance, and partnerships in line with the UN Guiding Principles."

NSN Global Services will continue to monitor relevant developments in the Working Group's process and the broader business and human rights agenda ahead of the 65th session of the Human Rights Council.

About NSN Global Services LLC
NSN Global Services LLC is a Delaware-registered limited liability company headquartered in Dover, Delaware, with operations and subsidiaries supporting education technology, systems, and related services in the United States, United Kingdom, Europe, Australia, and other markets. The company's mission is to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of education systems globally through innovation, technology platforms (including NSN OneWorld and related systems), and partnerships.

For more information, visit www.nsnglobalservices.com or contact engage@nsnglobalservices.com.

Disclaimer: This statement is provided for informational purposes only and does not create any legal obligation, contractual commitment, or endorsement of specific United Nations positions. Participation in the closed consultation does not imply association with or endorsement by the United Nations or any of its bodies. NSN Global Services LLC does not own the United Nations Special Procedures logo displayed above and claims no rights in or to it; the logo is used solely for identification of the consultation referenced herein. All statements are made in good faith based on available information and are subject to change. NSN Global Services LLC disclaims any liability for reliance on this information.

Trademark Notice: NSN and the NSN logos are protected brand assets of NSN Global Services. To request use of any NSN intellectual property or brand materials visit www.nsnglobalservices.com.

Media Contact
NSN Global Services LLC
engage@nsnglobalservices.com