Chairman's Comments:

*Alan Pretty, Seniors Chairman,
September 2025.*

Hello Gentlemen and welcome to the September issue of the Seniors Newsletter. In this month's issue we've got the captain's report and some great photographs from our Captains Home day Competition. There's a report from our home Team Match against Woodthorpe and update reports from your Committee Members including an important "rules" report from Tony that explains the "15 simple rules" every golfer should know. There's also the usual "Test Your Knowledge" quiz and an interesting article on Golf Ball Compression. You can also check out how you are doing in this year's Order of Merit on page 17.

The highlight of the month of course was our Captains Home Day played on the 20th. The weather was fine and sunny and a great day's golf was enjoyed by nearly 50 members. Everyone enjoyed a buffet, and refreshments provided and hosted by Captain Colin, a selection of snacks at the halfway house, a mystery holes stableford competition and a variety of nearest the pin's challenges. Thank you to everyone who turned out to support our Captain and to members who assisted with the organisation on the day. Well done to all our winners. And of course, thank you to Colin for putting on such a great day's golf.

We concluded our Summer Knockout during August and its congratulations and well done to Tony Fell who ran out the winner against Jim Crayston. Also last month it was great to see Erol back on the course enjoying a round of golf. I joined him in a buggy, and I'm pleased to say I don't think it will be long before he is back playing again on a regular basis.

It's hard to believe that we are in September already and now looking forward to the Autumn Programme. Although the weather has been exceptionally warm it has taken its toll on the course. Thankfully the ground staff have done a good job on the greens.

Unfortunately, the fairways have suffered because of the lack of water, and the tee boxes are nearly non-existent. Let's hope we have some rain over the next few weeks (well just enough to improve the condition of the course) so we can all enjoy some good rounds of golf.

At the last Seniors Committee Meeting it was agreed to introduce a "best round of the Month Competition" The idea is that the Competition Team will select what they consider to be the best round of the month in a WMSS official competition. We'll then publish it in the newsletter and get the player to give us the highlights of the round. Tony Crook started us off last Month and you can see his card and read his comments on page 13.

Thank you to everyone for getting their memberships renewed on time. We now have nearly 70 members. Included in that number are new members Paul Warman, Mike Bullivant, John Hardy Michael Coates, Paul Eveleigh and David Robinson. Welcome gentlemen. I hope you enjoy your golf with a group of like-minded seniors.

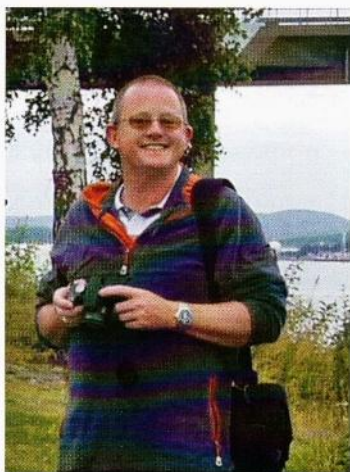

Finally thank you to all members who attended John Boyce's Funeral. He had a lovely send off and has now gone to join his family and play as much golf as he likes. RIP Boycey, you'll be missed but not forgotten. Alan Pretty Seniors Chairman.

Captain's Column:

*Colin Bilboa, Seniors Captain,
September 2025.*

August due to having to reschedule team games has been a quiet month with the only match being a home game against Woodthorpe. Check out the Team page on the WMSS Golf Club website site for the match report & page 7 & 8 in this month's newsletter

Almost forgot there was another event, with 41 seniors taking part and the highlight for my month this was the Captains Home Day. Adding a mixture of fun events into a qualifying stableford made for an interesting and hopefully fun day for all. Starting with nearest the captain's drive on the first, being first off to hit that drive was a little nerve wracking to say the least. No need to have worried it went straight down the middle and even left a shot to the green, pressure what pressure. Well done

Colin Taylor for replicating this perfectly executed stroke. This was followed by nearest the pin on 14 & 18, well done to Paul Marshall & Robbie Read respectively. We ended the day with a secret six chosen by Hayley which was taken by Paul Everleigh with 16pts. Paul also took the division 2 stableford with 45pts which also earned him the title of club bandit. It was a day for the Paul's as Paul Warman with a playing h/c of 9 took the division 1 stableford with an impressive 39.

Well done and THANK YOU to all that took part. For future reference Paul Eveleigh has had his index cut by 11.6, that's a reduction of 13 off the yellows at Welton, great play has its rewards and I'm sure all would agree that stroke index reduction is a reward to all that play the beautiful game. Colin Bilboa Captain WMSS.

Again, may I start by saying thank you to all that put their names down for this this rearranged match against Woodthorpe. On this occasion I will also start by saying thank you for turning up, well most 🏌️ Garry Gilberthorpe and I started the ball rolling in a closely fought contest, level after 16, a par on the 17th by my good self-took us one up. Bring on the 18th, my 1st shot hit the water but under pressure Garry held his nerve to make the half.

1-0 WIN this was followed by further 5 wins for our Welton Warriors. Our only losses were Vice Captain Simon Boyes and Alan Phillipson 2-1; this I believe indicates a hard-fought match and an acceptable result. The second and biggest loss was Steve Wells and just in case you haven't heard our Three Times Club Champion Alan Pretty, 4 -2. I apologise to Steve for making the pairing and ask Alan to make a mental note to try harder in all future competitions 🏌️ ⛳️ 🚩

sorry

ITS ALL ABOUT THE WINNING 🎉 6-2 🎉

Thanks, must also go to Woodthorpe's captain Graham Rushby and his team who irrelevant of the result made for a great day of golf. Compliments again where given about the condition of the course especially the greens. This was followed by positive comments about the post-match Bowers meal which as always seems to give a satisfying end to a great day's golf.

One last big thank you must also go to Hayley, her help both behind the scenes and on the day ensured this rearranged match happened.

Thanks again, Colin Bilboa Seniors Captain.

Golf Ball Compression: What Is It And Why Does It Matter?

Even though golf ball manufacturers don't talk about compression as much as they once did, it's still an important consideration...

Most balls in most sports compress (they deform or go mis-shaped) at the point of impact, whether football, rugby, tennis and, perhaps most obviously of all, squash, where even a young child can manipulate the ball easily in his or her hands. But even seemingly rock-hard balls such as snooker balls compress to a degree because impact in many sports can take place at perhaps surprisingly high speeds.

When it comes to golf, all balls feel hard to the touch (other than perhaps any tactile differences between their cover materials) and you would certainly be hard pushed to compress them in your bare hands. But when you factor in that some of the best golfers in the world have driver swing speeds of over 120mph, and even the average male club golfer somewhere between 80 and 90mph, that's an awful lot of collision force between two seemingly hard objects – golf ball and hard metal clubface. Beneath the surface of a golf ball there always lies a core made of various plastic and/or rubber materials.

There may be other layers between core and cover, especially in many of the best golf balls on the market, but it is the compound of the core that largely determines the extent to which the golf ball compresses at impact, and this in turn dictates the amount of energy transferred to the ball

The golf balls of yesteryear would sometimes have their compression stamped on them

In days gone by you will have seen a figure of perhaps 90 or 100 stamped on a golf ball to indicate its compression rating. Compression is a measure of the deflection a golf ball undergoes when it is struck, with values typically ranging from 50 to 100, although at least one version of Callaway's Supersoft golf ball had a compression rating as low as 38.

2014's Callaway Supersoft model had a compression of just 38

(Image credit: Callaway Golf)

These days, such figures are rarely, if ever, stamped on a ball, although some manufacturers will still refer to them somewhere in their product features and benefits. This is partly because ball manufacturing has advanced to such a degree, using all manner of high-tech, manmade materials, that it is possible to make balls that 'feel' significantly different to what their measured compression rating would actually be.

But even if the figures themselves are now largely absent, or certainly less prominent than once they were, compression is still an important factor in performance as some golfers will find it easier to get greater distance out of a ball they can compress more easily (a low-compression ball) than one that requires greater swing speed to reap maximum benefit from its construction (a high-compression ball).

Swing speed is a big factor in deciding whether you'll be able to reap the full benefits of higher-compression balls. Many of the best golf balls for slow swing speeds and the best golf balls for seniors (acknowledging that there will, of course, be some seniors with faster swing speeds!) will be lowcompression models because their cores can be 'activated' more easily at slower swing speeds allowing them to achieve greater distance. Conversely, low-compression balls will compress too much for those with faster swing speeds, meaning sub-optimal performance and most likely a loss of control.

While there are certainly elements of performance in the best premium golf balls from which all golfers can benefit (added feel, spin and control closer to the green) it may come at the cost of compromised distance for those not blessed with the fastest swings as they won't be able to fully 'activate' the core of these higher-compression models at impact.

Srixon's new Z Star Diamond has a compression of 102 and is designed for driver swing speeds of 90+mph

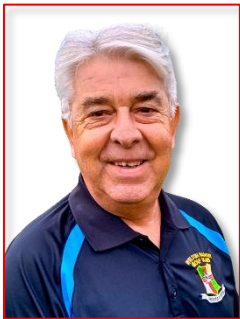

(Image credit: Future)

As an example, Srixon launched two ball models in early 2022 – the new Z Star Diamond and a new Q-Star Tour model. The Z Star Diamond, as played by Brooks Koepka, has a compression rating of 102 and is designed for driver swing speeds of 90+mph; the Q-Star Tour has a compression rating of 72 and is designed for driver swing speeds of 75+mph, but is otherwise engineered for tour-level performance. In other words, it will be a better distance option for those with sub-tour swing speeds who still want to reap all the other performance benefits of a tour-calibre ball.

In addition to the relationship between ideal compression and swing speed, there is also a school of thought that some golfers might be able to hit low-compression balls a little further than firmer balls in cold weather, and some of our recommended best golf balls for cold weather are, indeed, low-compression models. Golf balls don't go quite as far in the cold because the air is denser, which increases lift and drag so they tend to fly slightly higher and a little shorter. And if the golf ball itself gets very cold, this can also affect the characteristics of its materials resulting in lower initial velocity off the clubface.

“Round of the Month”.

On Wednesday 13th August I shot my best ever score, a gross 75 from the White Tees at Welton recording 43 points in the Stableford Competition.

It was a slowish start with 2 bogeys on the 1st and 3rd hole to put me 2 over after 3 holes, but a birdie 3 for 4 points got me started on hole 4. My ‘Amen Corner’ is 5, 6 and 7, which I consider the hardest part of the course, but this was great for me today scoring 10 points over those 3 holes, with pars at 5 and 7 and a very rare birdie at 6, with a 195 yard approach to 6 foot with a Hybrid 4 and holed the putt for a 4 and 4 points. 2 pars at 7 and 9 with a bogey 5 at 8 gave me a front nine score of 38, just 1 over par, scoring 23 points.

The back nine started well with 2 pars and the 2 bogeys at 12 and 13, both difficult holes and when I recorded a 2 on 14 for 3 points, I knew if I could keep it together over the last 4 a good score was on the cards. My only double bogey of the day was at 15 after a poor drive and 3 shots to get over the ditch but managed to par the last 3 holes, holing a 6-foot putt with about 9 inches of break on 18 to finish the back 9 with 37 shots and a total score of 75, resulting in 43 points. Today, I scored points on every hole with 3 birdies, 8 pars, 4 bogeys and just 1 double.

And a special thanks to my playing partners on the day Garry Gilberthorpe and Colin Taylor, who kept me focused on the day.

The key today was keeping the ball in play from the tee, good approach shots and holing some great putts, helping me to a personal best score of 75 and a 0.8 handicap cut to 10.7. One more good round might finally get me to single figures.

15 Yardage Books

- There are limits on the size and scale of green-reading materials that you are allowed to use.

1. B – Under Rule 16.1 and Model Local Rule E-10, you find the nearest point of relief where there is no interference from the tree and drop within one club-length.
2. A – Under Rule 17.1b, the same Rules apply to playing from a penalty area as when playing from the general area.
3. B – Under Rule 18.2a, a player may stand out of bounds to play a ball on the course.
4. A – Under Rule 6.1b, the opponent can decide, but must do so promptly and before either player makes another stroke. In stroke play, the correct answer would be C.
