DRACULA SHOW WAS A BLOODY SUCCESS!

After much deliberation, and a few shows that fell slightly below expectations, Dracula the Music Hall Terror rightfully gathered a large audience that laughed their mustaches off in this musical comedy put on by our own KAPS Theater for the final two performances. The Producer and Overhead Director Mr. Moore was bedridden at this time, so the kids of the Theater class/club decided to step up, and swap around character parts to try to keep the show going. There were two kids who fully learned their part in a single day, as well as lights being run by a first timer (Dakota Hudgins). The KAPS theater prevails once again as a proverbial hornets nest of issues was flung their direction, to which they simply responded: "The show must go on"

Good things

We met on the bus,
 sitting shoulder to shoulder.
 We didn't speak,
 but halfway through the trip,
 he turned to glare at me.
 He didn't let me leave until I promised,
 but this was when I was oblivious.
 Four years later I figured out,
 That when you get older,
 You get a little tall,
 Hard things get easy,
 And easy things get hard.
 You want to break promises you made
 with twelve year old boys, Knowing he wouldn't even be able to tell
 that you did.
 I swore that I'd listen,
 I'm sure he knew I'd try,
 But a rule of being 16 is that everyone looks mad.
 Bad things get worse,
 Good things turn bad

NEW YORK BULLETIN KAPS MENTIONED??

FF A series of explosions occurred in Hell's kitchen two weeks ago. Security footage was uncovered featuring a man in a black mask covering his upper face. He was seen retaliating against the police and kidnapping a civilian. Soon after, he was found in an old warehouse, taking an officer hostage. Local law enforcements have been investigating the masked man's identity, and nothing had turned up until yesterday at a nearby high school. Katherine Anne Porter school, located in Wimberley, a mere twenty minutes drive from Hell's kitchen. A student's bag fell open, revealing a black mask and suit, matching the exact description of the man behind the explosions. The student has requested to remain anonymous, but has released a statement: "Ah, um, er, thats not mine, its not me, I love the police, why would I ever blow stuff up?"

THE GREAT EPIC STORY OF PISS BABY

Piss Baby arrives on the scene at Super Baby Headquarters and remembers how his big brother, Ash Baby would talk about how cool Super Baby Headquarters is and how he loved it so much. Then, he hands in his acceptance letter I guess?? And they're like, "You're all set. You can go join the team." Then, he realizes his assigned team is the same one his big brother, Ash Baby retired from. When he goes to the team bunking area, he meets his other teammates, Cardboard Baby and Sigma Baby. And then he accidentally fanboys all over the place. Um, and then Cardboard Baby and Sigma Baby are like, "Oh, yeah, that's great buddy. You're making us uncomfortable." Piss Baby is like "Aw, man I'm sorry, guys. I just really miss my big brother, Ash Baby." Then, um, the well, uh they're- they're like- they're like all awkward and stuff. But then, the Super Baby League alarm goes off!!!!!! So then, Sigma Baby, Cardboard Baby, and Piss Baby go to save the city. So anyway, they get they're information from the headquarters and the file says there's bombs all over the city and they gotta go disarm the bombs before the bombs blow up. Also, there's a villain going around somewhere, but they haven't gotten a good look at them yet. So, they're dismantling the first bomb and then they hear from the shadows, "Something ominous, idk." And then they all gasp and Piss Baby's like, Wait, that sounds like Ash Baby, but he doesn't say that out loud. So, then when they get the last bomb because they've dismantled like 5 bombs or something idk. They hear dun, dun, dun, And then they see a giant skull being propelled by a swarm of babies (FREAKO REFERENCE?!?!). On top of it is Ash Baby wearing emo, dark clothing! Then, as the hoard of babies gets closer it stops next to them. The team is standing with they're mouths agape, they have nothing to say. Piss Baby says, "Ash Baby! Why are you doing this? Why do you hate me?!" and Ash Baby says, "I go by Crash Baby now!" and crashes the skull into them. But, Sigma Baby, Cardboard Baby, and Piss Baby use their epic teamwork powers that they learned while they were dismantling those bombs I didn't elaborate on and destroy the swarm of babies. Also at some point Piss Baby used his special attack: "Yellow Snow!" Um, so, then after they've destroyed all the babies, Crash Baby comes down and is like "No... You've defeated me!" But then Piss Baby is like "No, we haven't. I just wanna talk to you Bro. Why are you doing this?" And then Ash Baby talks about how the other babies didn't give him enough attention or something, idk. Um, and Piss Baby is like "Well that's okay! You can be part of our team now!" and the other babies are like "Yeah we're sorry bro! We can be the best team now!" and then Ash Baby is like, "As long as I don't have to go to jail." and then they're like "Okay!" And they all live happily ever after.

Quote from the original creator of Piss Baby, Mayne Stone: "I regret making Piss Baby now."
