jhayescha@gmail.com

Janice Hayes-Cha started creating art from get-well cards while recovering from cancer and now collects greeting cards from everyone, sorted by color in her studio. She loves to capture the complexity of iconic places with pieces that convey emotion, humor and love. Quirky cityscapes, landscapes, and nature scenes that celebrate color are her specialty.

Mount Holyoke

<https://www.elisaannlindstrom.com/>

elisaannlindstrom@mailbox.org

I strive for my work to embrace the calm, quiet, simple aspects of nature. Be that through an image of a bird perched on a wire or a view of a landscape with a large open sky, I love capturing these moments on canvas. It is important to me that my art gives the viewer a sense of peace and evokes feelings of freedom while celebrating the beauty of the world around us.

Explore the intersection of art and nature with fine art originals and prints by Eileen Smith-Cavros, MHC 1987. Eileen works in media from acrylics to pen and ink. Her artistic subjects include native plants and animals, landscapes, portraits, and abstract images through lenses from magical realism to ecofeminism. Eileen's background as an anthropologist/sociologist, naturalist, and backcountry wanderer encircle her art.
