CARING FOR YOUR CUTLERY

A tablekraft™ guide to keeping your cutlery looking its best.

Stainless Steel

Stainless Steel is one of the most durable metals available with its exceptional ability to resist stains, rust and corrosion.

Contrary to popular belief, Stainless Steel is neither stain nor rust proof and even the finest alloy will suffer if not cared for. So please consider the following to keep your cutlery looking its best for years to come.

Prolonged exposure to foods that contain Chloride like; mustard, table salt, eggs and jam can stain if not rinsed off immediately. Some of the minerals and salts in tap water can cause pitting and staining.

Washing

Wash in hot water and a good quality detergent. Rinse in water of at least 80°C.

If using a dishwasher, remove the basket shortly after the drying cycle and allow cutlery to air dry. Cutlery must not be left in the dishwasher overnight. Cutlery must be completely dry before stored. Stainless Steel must be kept separate from Aluminium or Silver-plated items to avoid pitting.

Special cleaning of stains

Use a mild abrasive or metal polish to remove discolourations and revive the finish of your cutlery. Water stains can be removed by rubbing either alcohol or salad oil onto the pieces. To keep the shine on your cutlery use a sponge with white vinegar.

Handling

Perforated flatware cylinders are recommended to avoid excess handling.

TECHNICAL INFORMATION

Stainless Steel

Cutlery is primarily made of Stainless Steel and is often referred to as 18/10 (18% Chromium and 10% Nickel) or 18/8 (18% Chromium and 8% Nickel). Containing 2% extra Nickel, 18/10 cutlery is more durable and is regarded as being of better quality. Stainless Steel resists stains, rust and corrosion better than most metals. All metals may react under extreme conditions.

Chromium Steel

This type of cutlery contains 13% Chromium and is referred to as 13% Chrome. Chromium Steel is magnetic and does not contain any Nickel making it less resistant to corrosion than 18/8 and 18/10 Stainless Steel.

Please note

All tablekraft™ products are 18/10 Stainless Steel unless otherwise stated. To optimise hardness all tablekraft™ monobloc knives and hollow handle knife blades are made from 420 Stainless Steel. Images in this catalogue are not necessarily to scale. Information in this catalogue is correct as at the time of print.
