The AIRC Certification Commission bases its decision to advance an applicant to undergo certification on an initial review of the financial stability and ethical reputation of the organization. The review is based on the information provided in the application and additional information secured from the public record and such additional background checks into prior business practice and ethical behavior as the Commission deems appropriate and are conducted in accordance with AIRC requirements.

Only AIRC Certified agencies, agencies on probation and those agencies which had their certification revoked will appear on any public lists. Certification Denials will not appear publicly. Further, all documents related to the Certification process (including but not limited to the letter of intent, application, due diligence, self-evaluation report and external reviewer report) are confidential documents which are not made public by AIRC.

AIRC Board of Directors and Certification Commission actions from December 2008 to the present:

Total Agencies Certified: 180

Total Current AIRC Certified Agencies: 126

Total Voluntary Withdrawals: 48

Total Agencies Discontinued Certification After First 5 Years: 15

Total Certified Agency Closures: 5

Total Conditional Certifications and Certification Denials: 11
