

HAMPSHIRE HILLS WILDLIFE 'MEET THE LOCALS' BINGO

We simply adore our site's peaceful countryside location and are so lucky to be able to share it with some of 'The Locals'.

We hope you will also get to see 'The Locals' during your stay and this led to the idea to create this Wildlife Bingo Chart game so you could also have some fun whilst keeping an eye out for them.

Game rules:

1. Tick the box on each image as you spot each of 'The Locals'
2. If playing with another guest(s), first one to spot all wins

We hope you get to spot them all during your stay

Barney – our resident Barn Owl

Our small wooded copse area has a selection of bird, bat and owl boxes which we think may be why Barney can often be spotted there. Usually he is in 'silent assassin mode' and rest assured he has seen you before you see him!

New accommodation* at the Bee Hotel

Our site seems to encourage Bees to regularly visit for short stays during certain times of the year. We think this is because of the appeal to them of our wild meadow area and the selection of tree stumps we have in our small wooded copse area. We have also installed some Bee Hotels to also give them a place to

The 'Squezzle' family – our resident squirrels

The Squezzles make themselves at home in our wooded copse area and seem to happily come out to play day or night. If you are staying in one of our pods, they are quite likely to jump onto your roof and sit staring at you when you are chilling.

Glow-worms – our glow-in-the-dark Beetles

Glow-worms are not actually worms, but Beetles! It is only the female who has the nightly-glow which is a wonderful sight to witness. They seem to prefer living in areas where there is low/no light pollution. On our site they are typically to be found in our small wooded copse area.

Acro-Bats

We think there is only one bat living in or near to our small wooded copse area. Only ever seen at dusk, he loves to perform a wide range of stunt flying manoeuvres. We will be installing more bat, bird and owl boxes in the wooded copse soon which we hope will encourage more visitors in the near future.

'Scarlet' – the Tiger Moth

Still quite a rare sight at Two Hoots but we do occasionally have visits from Scarlet Tiger Moth(s) which are amazing to see up close. Usually seen flying in the late afternoon on sunny days.

Please considering share any images you capture of 'The Locals' to our Social Media Channels

'Kanga' the Hare

Kanga is an extremely large & handsome hare who loves to hide in the wild meadow field. We call him Kanga as he looks like a kangaroo when he stands on his back legs with his arms up. He loves to occasionally show off his rapid turn of speed.

'Frank' the Pheasant

Frank likes to make his presence known by squawking and then fluffing his feathers. He can be friendly and seems to be quite relaxed about being near to us humans. He is also a fast runner and you often find him hovering near to the Shepherd's Huts.

'Stealth' the stag Deer

Stealth occasionally appears when you least expect him to. Often found standing statue-like in one of the adjoining fields. Rest assured he has likely seen you before you see him.

'Spartans' the Rabbit warriors

The Spartans are constantly waging their own war with us through their attempts to build a new underground tunnel infrastructure and colony. Typically, they launch their most ferocious campaigns each summer. Don't be fooled by their cuteness!

The Lavender triplets

The Lavender triplets are a funny bunch. Named after their colour, these Guinea Fowl are great watchdogs, as they make an almighty racket to alert each other if they are disturbed by humans or if there are predators nearby.

'The Red Arrows' aka the Red Kites

Red Kites are medium to large birds of prey that seem to adore gliding around on thermals in the air above our site. We seem to have a 'squadron' of 7 red Kites who you tend to find overhead in the afternoon. They are beautiful to watch.

Butterflies – our rainbow friends

Since creating our wild meadow area we have seen a marked increase in both the number and different types/colours of butterflies at our site. Some days we see what seems like a full rainbow of butterfly colours which is such a heart-warming sight.

'Mewling cat' Buzzards

We often see Buzzards overhead putting on a fantastic display of their aerial capabilities which seems to re-enforce their reputation as ferocious predators....well at least until they frantically depart when chased away by crows and other much smaller spirited birds making mewling cat noises as they flee!
