

Repatriation to Ireland

If your loved one passes away here in Massachusetts and needs to be repatriated to Ireland. Our expert team of Funeral Directors will take care of every detail for you.

Sending your loved one home can be a complicated, confusing, and expensive process and in certain circumstances we can work closely with the Kevin Bell Repatriation Trust whose mission is to ease the financial burdens of families who have experienced a sudden and tragic loss.

We will handle the acquisition and completion of all necessary documentation and work closely with consulate, airlines as well as with federal and local authorities to secure and prepare the appropriate notarizations, apostille certifications, and coordination of all Domestic and International Logistics to get your loved one home as expeditiously as possible.

For more information about the Kevin Bell Trust or to make a donation to help them continue their good works, please visit www.kbrtrust.com