Appliances

Refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners and dehumidifiers contain CFC's (Freon) that must be reclaimed by a licensed contractor before recycling or disposal. Most appliance dealers will take your old appliance away when they deliver your new one. Otherwise, call one of the locations listed here for information on how to recycle your old appliance.

Recycle as a last option!

G

Glass

WCSWD Rural Recycling Centers:

On website home page click "Programs" and select "Rural Recycling Centers:"

Clear, green and brown container glass is accepted. Window glass, light bulbs, and drinking glasses are NOT recyclable because they do not melt at the same temperature as container glass. Therefore any other glass besides "container" glass is considered "contaminant" and should not be placed in the recycling at the rural sites.

Grass/Leaves/Twigs/Branches

WCSWD Yard Waste Site

Greencastle: 2363 S. Co. Rd. 250 West, located on the road to the County Highway Department, just past the police firing range.

Open April through end of October.

Call for hours. 765-653-6699

Residents Only

This site is designed to accommodate certain types of vegetative material. Backyard composting should be the first measure taken for such debris. Please take care not to put yard waste into the "regular" trash. Only compostable materials are accepted at this site. This does not include sod, soil, processed or treated lumber, large trees, or stumps.

Site space is limited so no businesses, contractors, or landscapers please.

H

Hazardous Household Waste

Hazardous chemicals that are indentified by the words "harmful, toxic, corrosive, or flammable" need to be disposed of properly.

Medications

Controlled, non-controlled, and over the counter medications are hazardous to our environment if flushed down the toilet or thrown in the trash. There is also a need to ensure that these medications do not fall into the wrong hands. When using sources listed below, you may want to mark out the patient name on the label, however, please do not mark out the name of the medication.
