CALLED TO SERVE RETREAT
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14TH

The retreat starts at 7:30 a.m. with a continental breakfast.
Lunch is also provided and the retreat concludes at 3:00 p.m.

Do you feel ill-equipped to serve the Lord? In the Church, there is a great diversity of ministries but a unity of mission — to lead other people to the Lord. Lay people share in the priestly, prophetic, and kingly office of Christ by virtue of their baptism.

Our ability to lead others grows from our love, our faith, our life in Christ, and our visible witness to others. Plan to spend your Saturday, November 14th at the CALLED TO SERVE one-day retreat that will explore the building blocks of mission and growing them in your life! This is a retreat designed to help you hear and answer God's call to serving His people.

Sign up to attend this retreat in the vestibule following Mass today.

For more information you may call Deacon Eric Shaber at 208-521-7846 or Charlotte Shaber at 208-521-6824.

God our loving Father,
source of every gift and blessing,
we give you thanks for all you have entrusted to us.

Open our hearts to generous gratitude and help us faithfully sustain the ministries of your Church form disciples, nurture our youth,

Keep Your Light Burning Bright

ANN M. GARRIDO

We have entered that time of year when the readings turn our attention toward the "end of time"—that moment we await in which all of God's dreams for us will be realized. The "kingdom of God come." Jesus, like prophets before him, compared this moment to a wedding feast. In Jesus' time, marriage was the most decisive event of one's life, and the wedding feast was the greatest feast families ever celebrated. There was nothing better than a good wedding party—and nothing more embarrassing than a bad one. So much at stake!

In the parable in today's gospel, Jesus focuses on the role of the bridesmaids in making the wedding feast a spectacular event—or not. They are trusted to provide a parade of light to greet the groom as he arrives at his family's home with the bride, but it turns out that not all have prepared adequately.

The parable forces us to consider our own commitment to the Christian life. In baptism, we, too, were given a special role to serve the coming kingdom of God. We, too, were entrusted with a light and told to "keep it burning bright" until that time in which we "come out to greet him." At the beginning of our faith journey, we often embrace this role with much fervor. But we forget that the Christian life takes a good bit of endurance and involves a lot of waiting. We will need oil to keep that light burning bright—the oil of prayer, participation in the sacraments, time spent in study and renewal. No one else can nourish your relationship with God for you. It is something you will need to do yourself. ●

What are you doing to keep your light of faith burning bright right now?

Dear Padre,

LUIS SANTOS / SHUTTERSTOCK

What happens to the sacred treasures in a deconsecrated Catholic church?

When a diocesan bishop deconsecrates a church, he issues a decree that removes a church's dedication and relegates it to "profane but not sordid use" when it "cannot be used in any way for divine worship and there is no possibility of repairing it" (Code of Canon Law, 1222). The impossibility of repairing a badly damaged church doesn't mean only an architectural impossibility. Inadequate finances to maintain the church properly, an insufficient number of parishioners to foster ecclesiastical vitality, and a shortage of priests are also grave causes for a church's closure. Decorative appointments and sacred treasures in these relegated churches often find new homes in other churches and religious institutions.

This traditional custom of dissemination is a sign of solidarity with the broader Church and in continuity with its rich heritage. It honors the faith and sacrifices of the charter members when the church was built and the generations that followed. Remaining religious items in a relegated church, such as an unmovable altar, "lose their dedication or blessing if they have been destroyed in large part, or have been turned over permanently to profane use by decree of the competent ordinary or in fact" (CCL 1238). Stained glass windows, mosaics, and other sacred art that remain in a repurposed church don't lose their aesthetic beauty and evocative power, however. "A thing of beauty is a joy for ever," wrote the poet John Keats. ●

A WORD FROM POPE LEO XIV

Brothers and sisters support each other in hardship; they do not turn their back on those who are in need; and they weep and rejoice together in the active pursuit of unity, trust, and mutual reliance. The dynamic is that which Jesus himself gives to us: "Love one another as I have loved you."
