PASTOR'S CORNER
REFLEXIÓN DEL PASTOR

REV. RAFAEL O'FARRIL
ASSISTANT PASTOR

Today's first reading and gospel account call to mind the reality of "hatred" and "the enemy." The fact that civil discourse has devolved to such realities cannot escape notice. We are a people divided, unfortunately. But the fact that someone is another's "enemy" because that person "hates" what the other has done or said can cause the fear about which Jesus speaks to his disciples in today's gospel.

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus said, "You have heard it said, You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy. But I say to you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you." This admonition is very challenging in the current culture. But today, Jesus said, "Fear no one. . . . rather, fear the one who can destroy both soul and body in Gehenna." Without such courage, there is more to be lost than civil discourse. Is the word "hate" a part of our vocabulary? Is there a perceived "enemy" because of it? A word to the wise, then. For every "enemy" of mine there is always another "enemy" within me. The enemy within me is my conscience. The Second Vatican Council declared the following:

"Deep within his conscience man discovers a law which he has not laid upon himself but which he must obey. Its voice, ever calling him to love and to do what is good and to avoid evil, sounds in his heart at the right moment. . . . For man has in his heart a law inscribed by God. . . . His conscience is man's most secret core and his sanctuary. There he is alone with God whose voice echoes in his depths." (GS 16)

Our conscience is that voice of God which not only directs love and good deeds against every evil design; it also accuses and convicts us when we have done evil. Beyond the question of why we hate a perceived enemy is whether it bothers our conscience? If hatred for another does not bother us in conscience, aren't we already denying Jesus? Aren't we already lost body and soul to Gehenna? In wars of old, the duty of some men in combat was to take messages back and forth along the lines of battle. Sometimes, the messenger had to cross enemy lines to deliver the message. For that reason, the enemy on both sides were ordered to keep firing at the messenger until no life was left in him, because "as long as there was still breath in the messenger, he still carried the message."

So much is at stake, so don't kill the messenger in you, your conscience. If there is still breath in our lungs, the message is still within the core of our being. The prophets of the Old Testament were the personification of conscience for the people of Israel and its kings. Many of those prophets were literally killed, but they were not afraid to speak. And because of their fearlessness, many had successfully converted the evil heart of a nation and its leaders and together they escaped the punishment their evil actions deserved.

Querida familia de Nuestra Señora de la Paz: La Palabra de Dios de este domingo nos recuerda una verdad profundamente necesaria para nuestro tiempo: el miedo no puede gobernar nuestra vida cuando Dios está con nosotros. Vivimos días donde muchos callan su fe, esconden sus valores o se sienten vencidos por el cansancio, la presión social o las heridas interiores. Sin embargo, el Señor hoy nos invita a recuperar la confianza.

El profeta Jeremías (Jer 20,10-13) nos presenta el drama de un hombre perseguido, criticado y traicionado. Escucha murmullos, amenazas y siente el peso del rechazo. Pero en medio de esa oscuridad no se rinde, porque descubre algo decisivo: "El Señor está conmigo como fuerte guerrero". También nosotros, en momentos de prueba, decepción o soledad, podemos sentirnos cansados o tentados a retroceder, pero Dios no abandona a quien permanece fiel.

San Pablo, en la carta a los Romanos (Rom 5,12-15), nos recuerda que el pecado ha tocado profundamente a la humanidad, pero el amor de Cristo es mucho más fuerte que el mal. Si el pecado hiere, Cristo sana; si el mundo divide, Cristo reconcilia; si el miedo paraliza, Cristo levanta. No estamos condenados a vivir esclavos de nuestras heridas, errores o pecados: en Jesucristo siempre existe un camino nuevo.

En el Evangelio (Mt 10,26-33), Jesús repite varias veces: "No tengan miedo". No tengan miedo de hablar de Dios, de defender la verdad, de vivir la fe en un mundo que muchas veces ridiculiza lo sagrado. El Señor conoce nuestras luchas, nuestras lágrimas silenciosas y nuestras batallas interiores. Si cuidas de los pequeños pájaros del cielo, cuánto más cuidará de cada uno de nosotros.

Quizá el temor más peligroso hoy no es el rechazo de los demás, sino alejarnos silenciosamente de Dios, acostumbrarnos a una fe tibia o vivir como si Cristo no fuera importante. Por eso este domingo es una invitación a preguntarnos: ¿estoy confiando verdaderamente en Dios o permitiendo que el miedo dirija mi vida? Jesús nos asegura: quien permanece unido a Él jamás camina solo.

Que Nuestra Señora de la Paz nos enseñe a vivir con valentía, confianza y fidelidad, aun en medio de las pruebas.
