

“Gateways Within...”

You are loved, unconditionally.

You are a beacon of love.

You are the light of god, interconnected to all that is.

Know that there is more, so much more, than meets the eye. Close your eyes and start to see.

Look within, how ever deep, to find answers and solutions, guidance.

Withdraw yourself from the world for a bit and take time to be alone and recharge.

Be patient.

Trust your instinct. Know that you, your soul, is safe.

Every day moving closer into divine flow.

The cosmic and earth gateways are opening.

Accelerating healing. Anchoring our bodies into a higher dimension.

Source is infinite, abundance just a heartbeat away.

The ability to adapt so easily is in you. Curiously exploring the next realm.

Determent to stay calm and prepared to walk the tough roads ahead in a deep trust, knowing.

Winter will come and it will be cold. But remember that beyond winter spring will inevitably appear. She's already there, awaiting.

Take this time to rest in comfort and harmony as much as you can. And never forget that, how ever thick your armour needs to be at times, your softness inside is your true superpower!

Take a deep breath and stay in peace, love, kindness... always.
