

"If Dragons Could Fly..."

But yes of course you might say... A dragon is born to fly, meant to soar the firmament.
There were indeed times she did. Soon, once more. If we could only imagine.
Dream it and it is so.

Oh, the wisdom and light that comes with her. Goddess of water and air. Breathing fire.
Like us, born from the earth, our sacred mother. Home in the domain of father sky.

She will teach us to truly live from the heart. How to flow and vibrate in love. Inside her eternal flames of burning (com)passion.
In an instant manifesting her dreams.

How balance and harmony will return. Showing us our souls purpose.
Setting our emotions free and making us follow our intuition as if we always have...

Awaken.
Believe.
Feel her divine energy rising.

Now is the time. Connect the dots. Zooming out. Liberating us so we can see the whole, big(ger) picture.

Feel her pulse.
Like the wind. No... like a storm!
Dare to ride her.
Connect.

And fly dragon... FLY!
