

"Watchers..."

Out of the shadows we came and to the stars we shall return.

Since the day you arrived, started to embody this life, we have been here to witness.
You.

From behind the veil of your perspective we have perpetually been here. A constant reminder of your origin. Always in stillness. Yet ever so strong. Remembering the days you could hear our whispers.

You might call us your guides, perhaps even an angel or great spirit. But names are just that... names.

Our origin however is identical to yours. In essence we were born from the same source.
Your innate abilities never forgotten.

Your truth will rise again.

Till then in twilight we shall remain, patiently awaiting your call to re-awaken.
It would be of our greatest joy to watch you starting to remember.

Your song returns.
Your light will find us.

For they were never lost...