4TH GLOBAL OLEOCHEMICAL CONFERENCE

The oleochemical industry is entering a new phase: structural shifts in feedstocks, capacity, and downstream demand are redefining the rules.

On May 29th, 2026, we will gather key market leaders at the 4th Oleoline Global Oleochemical Conference to decode these changes.

From lauric oils dynamics and global market outlook to downstream applications, technology competitiveness, and regional disruptions.

In a context of tight feedstocks, geopolitical uncertainty, and evolving demand, the question is no longer where the market is going, but how to navigate it.
