To Go Up Higher

We come to the wedding banquet of heaven by way of humility and charity. This is the fatherly instruction we hear in today's First Reading, and the message of today's Gospel.

Jesus is not talking simply about good table manners. He is revealing the way of the kingdom, in which the one who would be greatest would be the servant of all (see Luke 22:24-27).

This is the way He showed us, humbling Himself to come among us as a man (see Philippians 2:5-8), as one who serves, as the bearer of glad tidings to the poor (see Luke 4:18).

This is the way, too, that the Father has shown us down through the ages - filling the hungry, sending the rich away empty, lifting up the lowly, pulling down the proud (see Luke 1:52-53).

We again call to mind the Exodus in today's Psalm - how in His goodness the Lord led the Israelites from imprisonment to prosperity, rained down bread from heaven, made them His inheritance, becoming a "Father of orphans."

We now too have gained a share of His inheritance. We are to live humbly, knowing we are not worthy to receive from His table (see Luke 6:7; 15:21). We are to give alms, remembering we were ransomed from sin by the price of His blood (see 1 Corinthians 6:19-20).

The Lord promises that if we are humble we will be exalted and find favor with God; that if we are kind to those who can never repay us, we will atone for sins, and find blessing in the resurrection of the righteous.

We anticipate the fulfillment of those promises in every Eucharist, today's Epistle tells us. In the Mass, we enter the festal gathering of the angels and the firstborn children of God, the liturgy of the heavenly Jerusalem in which Jesus is the high priest, the King who calls us to come up higher (see Proverbs 25:6-7).

Journey OF Faith

TWENTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

In Word & Deed

After a volcano in Iceland interrupted air travel, several stranded passengers were interviewed as they waited for days to get out of the airport and on their way home. Some complained about poor service or how they were so badly inconvenienced. But one woman joked about her plight, making others laugh about being tired, stinky and less than ready to meet the queen! Her good humor made things a lot more bearable.

Jesus reminds us that we are all equal before God and we should treat each other with dignity and respect. When people seek a higher place than we have, let them. When someone who has nothing to give wants to be included, allow him. If someone is poor or uneducated or socially awkward, include him. God sees all and

FAMILY LIFE:

TO WALK AS ONE

Whether it is singing, dancing, talent or politics, when people judge others it is often more a popularity contest than a real assessment of ability. Remember Susan Boyle? What a great surprise to hear her angelic voice, especially after everyone snickered when she came on stage. No one would have ever guessed how talented she really was, but it only took a few moments for people to realize just how great a voice she had. People make snap judgments about others based on external appearances rather than wait and see who the person really is or how good their skills might be. It is easier, even if inaccurate, to look at age, dress, looks or personality and assume that is all one can know or needs to know.

People make spiritual and personal judgments too.

We look at someone and assume to know how good they are, what kind of person they must be or what their life must be like. We might not think that the poorly dressed man is a saint, or the wealthy woman is a mystic. But God knows. He invites everyone to His table, includes everyone in His family and loves everyone with an unconditional love. Faulty appearances can mask a thousand graces and a holy soul. See others with the eyes of God and you will undoubtedly see a glimpse of Heaven.

~James Gaffney

AT THE END OF OUR LIFE,

WE SHALL ALL BE JUDGED BY

charity.

~ST. JOHN OF THE CROSS

Using inclusive language is one way of emphasizing the church's responsibility to take a stand against one of the widespread forms of discrimination found in our society. As sensitivity to the inclusion of women grows, there should be a corresponding increase in awareness of the need to include all regardless of race, gender, creed, age or ability. By seeking to overcome discrimination wherever it is encountered, we live more fully as a communion, respond more fully to the Gospel and speak as a Christian community.

rewards those who see Him in others.

We have opportunities to practice this kind of virtue and humility every day. In the parking lot after Mass, coming home from work, at the table with our family and talking to neighbors and friends are times when we can be more generous, more caring and more understanding of the needs of others.

Try to listen a little more than you speak, give a little more than you get, offer a little more than you must. It will all come back to you in ways that you cannot measure.
