

2025 STPGA Junior Championship Invitation Breakdown

STPGA Championships are meant to reward players that participate in many events but also bring highly skilled players together to form a cohesive Championship. The STPGA has outlined how many players will receive an invitation to The STPGA Junior Championship based on their points earnings at the end of the Summer Series on July 29th. As stated in our Junior Golf Rules and Regulations, our Championship fields are a direct representation of our entire program based on both the number of players in each metro area, the number of players in each division, and past averages.

Below is the initial Invitation Breakdown for the Junior Tour STPGA Junior Championship. An updated Invitation Breakdown will be released on July 1st that reflects changes or fluctuation in participation by metro area and division throughout the Summer Season. Please note, no division will experience a decrease in invitations when the update is made with the exception of an age division in a given metro that has experienced zero participation. This updated Invitation Breakdown will dictate how many junior golfers will get invited per division and metro area when the season is complete on July 29th.

Please review the following process that will be utilized for Championship invitations in 2025:

1. Once invitations are sent, invited players will have 24 hours to register or decline their invitation. After a player declines or no action has been completed in 24 hours, the invited player will lose their spot and the next player from the same division/metro area Points List will be invited. This process will continue until the division is full. If there are no players next on the same list, the spot will revert to the overall division Points List.
2. Players in the top 5% overall of their respective division of the Points List will receive an invitation regardless of the allocated spots per metro area in the division. Meaning if you did not qualify in your metro, players have the opportunity to qualify via overall points for the division. If these spots are not needed, this does not mean the STPGA will invite more players.
3. The STPGA reserves the right to invite players based on the overall division Points List on Friday, August 1st in order to complete the playing field. The field will be considered final on Friday, August 1st at 12:00 p.m.

Invitations will be sent Wednesday, July 30th via email. Official timing to register and other event information will be communicated at this time. It is the player's responsibility to register according to these guidelines.
