Guiding Light Armor Set The Guiding Light armor set is a reward for completing the "Guiding Light" favor. It consists of three pieces: Breastplate, Gauntlets, and Waist Guard, each with its own unique perks. Perks and Stats * Boosts Strength, Defense, and Luck * Breastplate: Moderate Luck chance to increase Strength and Runic on one of Kratos' weapons * Gauntlets/Waist Guard: Melee attacks have a 4% (8% with both equipped) Luck chance to critically strike, creating a damaging explosion Locations The armor pieces can be found in the following locations: * Breastplate: Inside Tyr's Helmet in the Lake of Nine region * Gauntlets: At Tyr's Left Bracer near Sindri's Workshop * Waist Guard: Location not specified (assuming it's also in one of the aforementioned regions) Upgrade Information Each piece of armor has its own upgrade requirements and stats. The upgrades can be found in various locations throughout the game, including Hacksilver, Asgardian Ingots, Skap Slag, and other resources. Note that I've omitted some details to make the text more concise, but I've tried to preserve the essential information about the armor set's perks, stats, and upgrade requirements. Shores of Nine in the Northern part of the Lake of Nine, look for a wide wooden beam to vault over. Then, slip under a block of stone to return to the area visited as Atreus in Old Friends. Head left through Tyr's statue and make a U-Turn to the right to find Hel's Bramble. Burn it with Blazing Surge, then equip Blades of Chaos and press R2 to aim at the bramble. After the Bramble is gone, read the Runes and look for another glowing light in the sand. Dig it up to find the Waist Guard of Guiding Light. This Favor rewards 10,000 Hacksilver, an Asgardian Ingot, a level 7 upgrade, and more at higher levels. It's recommended as it features no combat or puzzle solving, with free armor available along the way. As Kratos, forget to dig up the Buried Treasure here, as this Favor will reward you with the Gauntlets of Guiding Light. The Right Bracer can be found in the Shores of Nine's Northern area, which was explored by Atreus during the Old Friends main quest. However, since Atreus didn't have the Blades of Chaos, he couldn't access it. To get to it, head back to this area and look for a wide wooden beam you can vault over. After crossing it, move under the block of stone to return to the visited location as Atreus. Head left from the statue's right arm and make a U-turn to the right to find Hel's Bramble. Burn it down using Blazing Surge by equipping Blades of Chaos and aiming at the bramble with L2 before pressing R2. Once the bramble is gone, you can read the Runes! Don't forget to recover the Buried Treasure here. Tyr's Helmet is easily located in the North-Eastern area of Lake Nine's giant golden helmet. Read the Runes on its bent cheek and find the treasure next to the burning campfire inside the helmet for the Breastplate of Guiding Light. The fourth piece of debris, directly East of the frozen lightning bolt near Realm Tower Bridge, is buried in a snow bank. Unlike other locations, this Buried Treasure gives 30 Whispering Slabs and an Amulet Enchantment, Jotunheim's Essence. The full set of armor, including the Guiding Light armor, focuses on Strength and Luck. To start the Guiding Light side quest in God of War Ragnarok, you need to unlock Midgard and be in the Lake of Nine area with Kratos. To trigger the favor, find one of the four Statue Rune Reads, which can be any of them. The first Rune Read is located near Tyr's Temple, close to the northern side. It's easy to miss but has a glowing digging spot nearby that contains pieces of Tyr's Armor Set. Once you've found it, interact with it and the Rune Read on the left will trigger the quest. For the second Rune Read, head southeast under a large bridge and then around a small iceberg. The third is located west of the Oarsmen, accessible through a canyon behind a snow wall. You'll need to burn vines using the Blades of Chaos to reach it. The last Rune Read is found on the right side of the Lake of Nine Mystic Gateway. Interact with it and retrieve the final part of Tyr's Armor Set from the glowing digging spot nearby.
