BENEFITTING

MISSION + IMPACT

Since its inception, Cotton Fest has made it its mission to utilize the week of the festival to help raise money for the High Cotton Relief Fund. This organization was established to assist the West Texas Cotton Community and anyone that has fallen on hard times.

A true passion for William, the organization was started in 2019 and is comprised of local area professionals within the Cotton & Farming industry and has raised more than $1mm and counting. Now, each year during Cotton Fest week in Lubbock, events like the Cotton Boll acoustic and Cotton Fest Classic, have been created all proceeds going to the High Cotton Relief Fund

Texas accounts for than 40% of the Cotton produced in the US annually, with the majority of that being produced in West Texas. The High Cotton Relief Fund helps local farmers and families in need for things such as stripping, medical expenses, funeral expenses, and other things that impact the family farmer each-and-every day.

THE EVENT

The Kick-Off to Cotton Fest Week in Lubbock, the 6th Annual Cotton Fest Classic, benefitting the High Cotton Relief Fund will be hosted by Texas singer songwriter and Texas Tech Alum, William Clark Green.

This amazing event takes place at Hillcrest Country Club and features a morning and afternoon flighted three-person scramble, handicapped tournament which includes great food, prizes, and fun for a great cause.
