Message from the Director

SB

Eliseba Osore, our beloved long-time program director, and I hold up one of our first large-scale diaper donations from the Honest company through our partnership with Baby2Baby.

I think I say or write “share the love” at least 100 times a week, and yes, I talk a lot, but it’s still a very common phrase for me. And still, I never feel trite because it is what drives, directs, and supports our work. ShareBaby was started by three mothers who went on a limb with an idea that needed love to grow and thrive. For the past eight years, ShareBaby has constantly needed compassion and a will to do good things. In response, this community has pulled together in incredible ways to spread love, support and care for our youngest and most vulnerable members. Today, we are proud to have distributed over 9 million diapers and other essentials since our founding.

Still, in our city and throughout our community, babies and young children continue to face challenges. Families struggle to provide for their children as rent, groceries, and gas prices have ballooned. Mothers are looking at their babies and choosing between buying food or diapers. It is Sharebaby’s belief in the love that exists in Baltimore that allows us to move forward with our work. We know that there is a desire to help alleviate this kind of desperation among our neighbors. I’ve thrown some serious hail marys during my time as executive director—throwing up big goals while the clock ticked for the children we serve—because I believe it too. I look forward to announcing our distribution of over 10 million items as we hit our 10th anniversary in January of 2024. I know we will because love is all around us.

With Gratitude,

Local & National Partners

SB

The support we receive from our local and national partners allows us to reach more children with more essential items. From in-kind donations, technical assistance, education, and support—we couldn't do our important work without their partnership.

In response to 2022's formula shortages and price increases, Baby2Baby supplied ShareBaby with over 1,000 cans of Similac to distribute to the families we serve.

National Diaper Bank
Network

As part of the Too Small to Fail-Early Literacy Program, National Diaper Bank Network sent ShareBaby over 1,000 books. The goal of the program is to increase awareness and spark positive change in parents and communities to boost early brain and language development in children ages 0-5.

Heritage
MileOne Autogroup

MileOne supported our first car seat education and distribution program, Safe and Secure. With their support, we were able to educate our partners on car seat safety and provide 168 seats to families in need. We are so excited to have this partnership grow over time.
