BigEng on-site line boring tool

BIGENG now offers line boring services to the earthmoving and agricultural industries.

With the acquisition of a portable line boring machine last year, the company has been able to expand on its earthmoving services to include mobile on-site line boring.

The organisation comes to its customers and if it can't work on-site, then in-house is always an option.

The mobile line boring machine represents value for money for clients.

An all-round service tool, the portability allows the company to perform most work on-site for the convenience of the customer.

The ability to internal bore weld and accurately machine worn components to original specifications, along with rapid response time, saves the customer valuable downtime and money.

This is combined with a fully-equipped machine shop facility, which ensures the company can offer the complete service and downtime is minimised.

In-house and on-site services include: precision machining; milling; internal bore welding; boring and taper boring; facing and taper facing; welding; re-engineering of components; and an on-site mobile welding plant.

BigEng follows best repair practices in its operations and works with clients, offering comprehensive advice to develop the best solutions for their situation.

Top Country produces licks at top nutrition level

ON MY way around the area delivering feed to all of our clients it has been pleasing to see how great the cattle are holding up on Top Country products.

It's not hard to tell the difference between the cattle that are being fed good-quality lick and the ones that aren't.

Now that the dry is really taking hold I see some cattle that are very poor and could die if we don't receive some decent rain shortly.

The cost of the loss of one cow would have fed 100 of her mates for a month.

Cattle cannot maintain condition or feed decent calves on salt urea and minerals alone.

Top Country has always produced dry licks at a top level of nutrition, and they include cottonseed meal, copra and other ingredients that help the cattle perform so much better in the dry.

Our Top Early Wean is a great product for any producers looking to wean a little early because of the dry.

It is a high-energy supplement for weaners between 100 to 200 kilos who haven't had the best start for whatever reason. Call in to discuss your feeding needs. Top Country offers on-site consultation free of charge to anyone in the North and South Burnett regions.
