Welcome to White Lodge

Thank you for your interest in the role of Chief Executive at White Lodge.

For over 64 years, White Lodge has stood as a beacon of excellence in providing specialist support to disabled children, young people, adults and their families. Built on a foundation of quality care, innovation, and community integration, we have evolved to meet changing societal and sector demands while remaining steadfast in our commitment to empowering individuals to lead fulfilling, independent lives.

Today, White Lodge is an established and highly respected charity, impacting hundreds of lives each year through our diverse range of specialist services. Our success is driven by an exceptional team of professionals, dedicated volunteers, an engaged Board of Trustees, and strong external partners.

As we look to the future, our strategic framework is centred on four priorities:

- Enhancing accessibility and increasing social opportunities for the people we support.
- Championing our customers' voices in health and social care, ensuring their needs and aspirations are heard and understood.
- Transforming local attitudes towards disability through greater awareness, inclusion, and advocacy.
- Strengthening our resources to ensure White Lodge remains resilient, sustainable, and capable of growing its impact.

This appointment comes at a pivotal time. The landscape for health and social care demands executive vision that balances compassionate, person-centred delivery with commercially astute, resilient leadership. We are seeking a Chief Executive who can build on our strong foundations, drive our strategic ambitions and ensure we continue to deliver life-changing support for generations to come.

Most importantly, we are looking for someone who shares our belief that every individual should have the opportunity to live with dignity, independence, and purpose, and who is passionate about creating a more inclusive society.

If you bring proven leadership capability, executive vision, and a passion for leading high-impact, mission-driven organisations, we would welcome your application.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, thank you for your interest in joining us to lead White Lodge into its next chapter.

Neil McIntyre
Chair of Trustees

About White Lodge Centre

For more than 60 years, White Lodge has been a place where children, young people, adults and families affected by disability can find support, opportunity, connection and a sense of belonging.

Based on a two-acre site in Chertsey, we bring together a remarkable breadth of specialist services and facilities across three buildings. More than simply a service provider, we are a community: a place where people can access support at different stages of their lives, develop confidence and independence, make friends and take part in opportunities that might otherwise be out of reach.

The breadth of our work is matched by the depth of our relationships. For some families, we are a vital source of respite and practical support; for others, we are somewhere to access therapy, develop skills, maintain independence or simply spend time with people who understand their experiences. Our short-break provision alone delivered 1,654 hours of support, while our wider services span early years, children and young people, adults, therapy, rehabilitation, leisure and community activities. The impact of this work is often deeply personal. People tell us that White Lodge has been a lifeline – helping them regain confidence, develop friendships and participate more fully in their communities.

We are also a substantial and increasingly sophisticated charity. Running White Lodge costs more than £3 million a year, and statutory funding does not cover the full cost of what we do. Fundraising currently contributes around £800,000 annually, alongside income from commissioning and other sources. This gives us valuable resilience, but it also means that financial sustainability is something we need to actively protect. We must continue to deliver high-quality services, maintain strong relationships with commissioners and find new ways to generate the resources needed to meet growing and changing needs.

Like many organisations working across health and social care, we are operating in a challenging environment. Public finances, commissioning priorities and the wider social care landscape continue to evolve, creating uncertainty as well as opportunity. We have already shown that we can respond successfully, including through securing a redesigned Surrey Short Breaks contract and investing in our facilities and infrastructure. But we cannot afford to stand still. The next CEO will need to be comfortable navigating complexity, making difficult choices and balancing ambition with financial and operational reality.

Our outgoing CEO, Lesleigh Bounds, has led a period of considerable organisational development, strengthening our governance, systems, digital infrastructure, income diversity and operational foundations. We are in a stronger position as a result. Our next CEO will have the opportunity to build on that progress and help shape what comes next, rather than needing to rebuild the foundations.

Our 2025–30 Active Plan gives us a clear sense of direction. We want to Enhance accessibility and social opportunities, Champion our customers' voices in health and social care, Transform local attitudes and Strengthen the resources that make our work possible. These ambitions are underpinned by our ENABLE values –

-  Equity,
-  Nurture,
-  Advocacy,
-  Belonging,
-  Language and
-  Empathy.

For our next CEO, the opportunity is to turn these ambitions into meaningful progress: extending our reach, responding to unmet need, strengthening partnerships and ensuring that the people who use our services continue to shape our future.

There is real scope to think ambitiously about that future. We have an established reputation, a strong physical base, committed staff and volunteers, and relationships across health, social care, local government, fundraising and the wider community. There are opportunities to develop our services, diversify our income and increase our influence, including significant potential within children's services. But growth in itself is not our goal. We want to develop in ways that make a genuine difference, respond to need and strengthen our ability to deliver our purpose over the long term.

This is an organisation with plenty to protect, but also plenty to build. Our culture and relationships matter enormously to us, and we want to preserve the sense of trust, respect and community that makes White Lodge distinctive. At the same time, our external environment demands adaptability, entrepreneurial thinking and a willingness to challenge ourselves. We are looking for a leader who can bring stability and continuity while also bringing fresh energy, curiosity and ambition; someone who will listen carefully, understand what makes White Lodge special and then ask what more we could achieve.

For the right person, this is a rare opportunity: to lead an established and much-loved organisation at an important moment in its development, with the platform, relationships and purpose to make a lasting difference. Our ambition is not simply to maintain what we have built, but to ensure that White Lodge continues to be a place where everyone belongs, everyone is valued and everyone can thrive.
