

Haiti - House # 215 The Appolon Family

Mr Jean Claude Appolon and his wife, Lenia Mathieu, have five children. One of the children and two grandchildren are currently living with the Appolons in the shanty shack that Jean Claude has been able to piece together with old ten and tarpaulin that you see in the “before” picture. Jean Claude is a farmer and also works as a taxi moto driver when he can. His wife is a merchant and helps in taking care of the household with what she sells at a little roadside stand and in Jeremie. He is a very hard working man, proud of his family and supportive of the parish, who always came regularly to church on Sundays until he went to live and work in Port-au-Prince in order to find some work. He came back a few years ago and for the last two years, he attends Sunday mass regularly again. He wanted and needed this house so badly, praying constantly that this miracle could happen for his family. Finally, in March 2021, the seemingly impossible dream came true. Jean Claude, Lenia and all the Appolon family send their heartfelt prayers and gratitude to all who helped in any way to make this happen.
