

Haiti - House #270 Chimene Dominique

This lovely picture is of Chimène Dominique standing in the doorway of her crumbling shanty. She became a widow last year. She had worked for HMI as a house keeper for more than a decade. After the loss of her husband, she has been experiencing some health issues. Eventually, she decided to stay home and sell foodstuffs for a living. She is a hard working woman who really cares for her family and specifically believes in education though she hasn't been privileged enough to personally stay very long at school. She has been dreaming of a new house for years, but there was no road access to where she lived. Thank God, a few weeks before Ing Paul's passing, he had made it possible for trucks and other motorized vehicles to go there. It is with great joy that HMI is building a decent and new house for her to live with her family in June 2020. She sends her deepest gratitude and heartfelt appreciation to all who helped in any way to make this possible.
