colorfully eclectic

In Portland, Oregon, a couple's divergent tastes honor the historic elements of this 1915 Prairie-style home while contrasting them with a mix of modern and antique decor.

Original ornate cornices, mahogany pocket doors and a Carrara marble fireplace bring stately character to the living room. The bold blue of Kravet velvet wing chairs is echoed in the mantel's weathered whale; a similar color connection is made between the veining on the fireplace, the leather covering an ample Restoration Hardware sofa and the naturally striated top of the reclaimed teak coffee table from 1stdibs.
