Regional Spotlight

In May, eight young adults in Waterford completed our pilot Skill2Serve programme: eight weeks of barista training, employer visits, coaching, and cultural activities.

They gained certifications, skills, and confidence, with four participants already hired. For employers, this means access to motivated, job-ready talent in a sector facing skills shortages.

👉 Join us in shaping Ireland's future workforce. Partner with Turas Nua to build skills, open pathways, and strengthen local talent pipelines, while meeting your own recruitment needs.

Partnerships with Purpose

At Turas Nua, we partner with councils, ETBs, and organisations like Generation Ireland to co-create pathways that go beyond placements, from site visits and tasters to training for in-demand roles such as solar panel installation.

These partnerships open doors for jobseekers, strengthen employer talent pipelines, and support communities with sustainable careers that drive Ireland's green transition.
