FIFTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

JULY 16, 2023

VATICAN CITY (CNS)

Mourning the “silent massacres” of innocent people who died while crossing the Mediterranean Sea seeking a better life elsewhere, the world must change its attitude toward migrants and those in need, Pope Francis said.

“The brother who knocks at the door deserves love, hospitality and every care,” the pope said in a letter marking the tenth anniversary of his first apostolic journey as pope to the Italian island of Lampedusa July 8, 2013. “He is a brother who, like me, has been placed on earth to enjoy what exists there and to share it in communion.”

Lampedusa, which lies between Sicily and the northern African nations of Tunisia and Libya, has been for decades a major destination point for migrants from Africa, the Middle East and Asia seeking a new life in Europe. However, many migrants often make the journey in unsafe vessels or without needed provisions like food, water and floatation devices.

At least 2,000 people are believed to have lost their lives in 2022 and again in 2021 while crossing the Mediterranean. Nearly 26,000 people were recorded dead between 2014 and 2022, and, between 2014 and 2018, about 12,000 people who drowned were never found, according to Statista. Pope Francis mourned the deaths during his 2013 visit with prayers and by tossing a floral wreath into the rippling water.

“The occurrence of such inhuman disasters must utterly shake our consciences,” he wrote. “We must change our attitude” and “we are all called to a renewed and profound sense of responsibility, showing solidarity and sharing.”
