TAAG Arts & Crafts Show

By Tina Norris Fields

ALDEN – Every year, on the Saturday before Thanksgiving, TAAG (Torch Area Artisans Guild) holds its huge Arts & Crafts Show in the Helena Township Community Center.

On Friday afternoon, the gym and two side rooms get transformed into an amazing bazaar of vendor booths filled to overflowing with items of every kind. From handmade mittens to Michigan stone wall art, from paintings to pottery, from decorative hanging pieces featuring repurposed CDs to crocheted finger puppets to reversible aprons to fanciful double towels for kitchen use to stained glass jewelry. The variety is stunning.

Oh, and don't forget the seemingly endless supply of baked goods as well as the fun luncheon menu! Yes, there's enough here to keep you occupied from the moment the show opens at 9 in the morning until it closes at 3 in the afternoon.

If you missed it this year, be sure to mark your calendar for next year - it's always on the Saturday before Thanksgiving.

Michigan Rocks Wall Art
May Have: Petaskey Stones, Charlevoix Stones, Lues, Agates, Yooperlites, Lightening Stones, el, Crinoid Stones, Pudding Stones, Unikite.

Joseph W. Mariage

February 1, 1932 ~ November 13, 2025

Joseph W. Mariage, age 93, of Rapid City, passed away on Thursday, November 13, 2025 with family by his side.

Joe was born and raised in Rapid City, Michigan, the oldest son of George and Gretchen Mariage, who owned and operated the GEM grocery. A lifelong learner, he was a proud member of the first graduating class of Northwestern Michigan University—an achievement he carried with pride throughout his life. He went on to earn both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Michigan State University.

Joe spent two years in the U.S. Army, where he formed close friendships and remembered his service through the stories of camaraderie, humor, and meaningful connections.

A dedicated and passionate educator, Joe believed deeply in the power of education to change lives. After beginning his teaching career in Williamston, Michigan, he spent the majority of his years with the Lansing School District. There, he created a highly successful Legislative Intern Program for high school students, opening doors for countless young people to explore government, leadership, and their own potential. He was adored throughout the district for his friendly smile, heartfelt encouragement, and unwavering care for students and colleagues alike.

Joe was equally devoted to his family. He faithfully supported his children in all their school activities and adventures. In 1971, he and his wife, Norma, pursued a dream of teaching overseas, taking the family to England for a year while he studied the British school system. During that sabbatical, they traveled to thirteen countries across Europe—an experience that became one of the most cherished chapters of their life together.

After retiring, Joe and Norma returned to Rapid City and settled into their beloved "treehouse" cabin in their "Our Woods" forest. They enjoyed cross-country skiing and frequent trips to the U.P., where Joe loved watching Great Lakes freighters and admiring the trees he held so dear. As dedicated stewards of Seven Bridges, they gave generously to the Grand Traverse Regional Land Conservancy, helping preserve the landscapes Joe cherished.

Above all, Joe was a storyteller, a teacher, and a gentle guide. Those who learned from him—whether in a classroom, at home, or in a simple conversation—were blessed by his wisdom, humor, and patience. He will be remembered for his loving and welcoming spirit, and for the joyful, playful nature he shared with all who knew him.

Joe, "Grandpa," "Papa" will be dearly missed by his wife of 67 years, Norma Jean Mariage; children, Dirk (Leslie) Mariage, David (Rebecca) Mariage, Lisa (Duke) Rosendahl; grandchildren, Lindsay, Alissa (John), Jaime (Kent), Brittan (Jason), Bryson, Adriana (Ryan), Keagan, Providence, Monroe; great grandchildren, Graham, Grayson; sister, Gloria Cox; brother, Tracy (Sandra) Mariage; brother-in-law, Neil Lee; and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, George & Gretchen (Robinson) Mariage; sisters, Virginia Lee, Sally (Glenn) Vedder; brother, George Mariage II; and brother-in-law, Ron Cox.

A Celebration of Life in honor of Joe, was held from 3:00 PM – 5:00 PM on Wednesday, November 26, 2025 at the Clearwater Township Hall, 5440 River St. NW, Rapid City, MI.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be given to the Grand Traverse Regional Land Conservancy (GTRLC). To leave a message for the family, please visit www.reynolds-jonkhoff.com.

MMC Recertified as Comprehensive Stroke Center and Now the Second Busiest in Michigan

The Witham Family Comprehensive Stroke Center prepares for a period of increased risk as winter weather and the holidays approach.

The Witham Family Comprehensive Stroke Center (WFCSC) at Munson Medical Center is proud to announce its recertification from The Joint Commission as Northern Michigan’s first and only Comprehensive Stroke Center (CSC).

Since 2020, the number of stroke cases accepted at WFCSC has more than doubled to over 1,200 each year making it the second busiest of 16 CSCs in the state. The American Stroke Association (ASA) has cited research indicating that strokes are more common November through February due to winter weather and the holidays. Access to the highest level of stroke care including endovascular intervention is critical but also very unique for a region like Northern Michigan.

“There remain significant disparities in stroke care across the country and around the world, with rural areas typically underserved with advanced stroke therapies,” said Gary Rajah, MD, Neurovascular/Cerebrovascular Neurosurgeon and WFCSC Medical and Surgical Director. “Time is brain and the over 500 emergent stroke procedures we’ve performed over the last five years are helping to improve outcomes, but our work is never done.”

Dr. Rajah completed the region’s very first thrombectomy in 2020 but prior to his arrival patients requiring that procedure had to be transferred downstate, delaying care a minimum of two hours due to travel time. Stroke is the world’s leading cause of disability with each minute of delay potentially causing the loss of four disability-free days and each hour equivalent to ageing 3.6 years.

“It’s been incredibly rewarding to bring this high level of stroke and neurovascular care to Northern Michigan, and the program continues to grow,” added Rajah. “CSC status not only reassures our patients and their families that they are receiving the very best evidence based, innovative care, but also helps with recruitment and retention of staff system wide.”

The success of the CSC has helped expand neuro care overall with the launch of Munson Neurosciences in Fall 2024. Over the last five years, Munson Healthcare has recruited six neurosurgeons and nine neurologists to the region with additional providers set to join the program this coming summer.

There are upwards of 300 Comprehensive Stroke Centers in the United States certified by The Joint Commission which represents the gold standard in stroke care. Each delivers care across the entire stroke continuum including:

- Pre-hospital coordination at smaller hospitals/critical access locations
- Emergency evaluation, and acute treatment (including IV thrombolysis and mechanical thrombectomy)
- Neuro intensive care
- Rehabilitation planning
- Long-term follow-up

Additionally, stroke related research is also a core element of CSC health, which can help provide Northern Michigan communities with treatment options beyond the standard of care for complex cases.

For more information on The Witham Family Comprehensive Stroke Center visit munsonhealthcare.org/stroke.

DEAL ME IN

By Mark Pilarski (reprinted with permission of the author)
Yuck!

1 September 2003

Dear Mark,

Having just returned from a recent gambling trip (Las Vegas), I was surprised to see many casinos offering single-deck blackjack. I thought single-deck was very rare because it affords a player the lowest house advantage and is a card counter's delight. Well, my surprise soon turned to disappointment when I approached a table and read the fine print. They only pay 6-to-5 on a blackjack! What's up with that? Isn't 3-to-2 the proper payout? How much does that tactic improve the house's edge? Is this game worth playing? Michael H.

Many casinos are now offering single-deck blackjack games that pay a natural blackjack 6-to-5 instead of the traditional 3-to-2. One word, Michael, can best describe this subtle rule change many players have not even noticed. As the schoolmarm says, "YUCK!" (I know you've got a better word, so spit it out.)

Here's some 'rithmetic to analyze this pickpocket variation of single-deck blackjack being offered to the inattentive in Las Vegas and elsewhere.

Theoretically, single-deck games do offer the best odds for skilled players, with a house edge of only about 18 cents for every $100 wagered. When a casino offers single-deck games that reduce the payoff on a player's blackjack from "7.5 to 5" down to "6 to 5," meaning instead of winning $7.50 for your hard-earned snapper, you win $6, that payoff slash increases the house edge from 0.18% to 1.45%, which, Michael, is a colossal 800% increase in the house edge.

YUCKS! (or better) loud and clear, please.

Dear Mark,

Concerning blackjack versus roulette, which does a player stand a better chance of winning? I am leaning more towards roulette due to the black/red or odd/even scenario. I am aware of the 0 and 00 killing my bets, but does blackjack still provide better odds? Damon C.

Blackjack is a game played poorly by many, and well by few. The desirable rearrangement is quite simple: Employ perfect basic strategy. Playing it correctly will bring the house advantage down to well less than 1%. But, even Hohum Hannah's careless play at blackjack is far-and-away a better deal than double zero roulette, where the house edge is 5.26% of every bet you place on the table. Yep, Odd/Even, Black/Red, it doesn't matter. The casino advantage is 5.26% and you aren't going to change that with any particular wager.

Now if your blackjack play is ghastly, like splitting 10s against a dealer ace, well . . . stick with roulette, but only on a single-zero roulette wheel where the house edge is a less murderous 2.70%.

What's so special about single zero? Because, Damon, while in the end you will lose about $5.26 for every $100 wagered on a double-zero table, your loss at the single-zero table drops to a more digestible $2.70.

Dear Mark,

When is the best time to double down for less in blackjack? Dick H.

I'll ask you, Dick, why do you double down in the first place? Answer: you double down because you are more likely to win the hand than lose it. For that reason, you always want to wager the maximum amount. Never shortchange yourself when it comes to doubling down. It is the double downs, splits and blackjacks that shove blackjack play from the red into the black.

The 3 Questions to Win at Life

This is the second in a 3-part series on the questions and answers that inform our lives.

The second question is:

What is my Purpose here?

Most people wonder what their purpose is at some point in their lives. When it comes to mental health, it's helpful to reframe how we look at purpose as something that we "create," not something that we "discover." This moves us from having to find something to being active participants in the unfolding of our lives.

When we are developing our purpose, we will find that it is informed by what we value, what our strengths are and, of course, our relationships. These can drive our view of how we act and what we create in our lives. This moves us way beyond seeing our job titles, socioeconomic status and achievements as the things that define our purpose in this life.

As people, we tend to thrive when we feel needed, connected and when we play an active role in directing our own contributions to our world. We are meaning makers, and our purpose is no different.

There is a common misconception about purpose. We are often told that we have "a purpose," but what we are not told is that our purpose will evolve through the seasons of life. In order to balance our mental health with our purpose, we must let go of the anxiety that is found in trying to find "the one thing." As we go through life, we will find that what we find most important will change, and our purpose will change along with it.

Here are some practical approaches to creating your purpose:

1. Identify your top 3 values. These will inform what is important to you.
2. Recognize that sometimes purpose is seen in small, consistent actions such as parenting, volunteering or creating in whatever form you value.
3. Align to your Purpose. When you match your purposeful behavior to your values, you will naturally reduce feelings of anxiety and/or depression.

The answer to the question: "What is my Purpose here?" is an ongoing exploration. It is not destination as such. It's more like a daily intentionality. Once you connect this with what you truly value, you will have taken a huge step towards winning at life. s

Additional Obituaries on pages 4, & 5

Joanne Cecelia Hartnett

February 6, 1934 ~ September 18, 2025

How does one write an obituary of your mother? What is the protocol? What is the format? My mother didn't exactly follow the norm for her time, so I will write this using my own format, my own protocol — part obit part eulogy — to share a bit of my mom's story.

Joanne Cecelia Hartnett (née Mainville) died on September 18, 2025, in Traverse City, MI. She was 91 years old, and from where I sit, she had a long, full life. She worked hard and took care of herself and her kids. After a relatively short, but fierce, struggle with Alzheimer's, she died peacefully, safe, cared for, and loved, in a very natural order of things.

She is survived by her five children, David Hartnett (Denise) of Harbor Springs, MI., Suzanne Hartnett (Peter Lazansky) of Arcadia, MI., Clarisse Hartnett Manny of Traverse City, MI., Steven Hartnett (Sue Lynn) of Aptos, CA., and Erich Hartnett (Kristy) of Littleton, CO.; and her sister Rhoda Perkins (Robert) of Eden Prairie, MN. She also leaves five grandchildren, Rylan Hartnett (Theresa Sherwood), Miles Hartnett (Shalyn), Jaclyn Gottlieb (Michael), Grace Hartnett, and Andre Hartnett; and 5 great-grandchildren, Zoe and Calvin Hartnett, Morgan and Lydia Hartnett, and Ruby Gottlieb. She was preceded in death by her husband, Daniel André Hartnett, and her parents, Esther (Bergman) Mainville and Roderick L. Mainville.

An intense Michigander she was — born in Detroit in 1934 and growing up in Dearborn, MI. She spoke fondly of her early years in Dearborn, which included shopping trips to Hudson's with her mother, listening to the Detroit Tigers on the radio with her friends, bowling, tennis, and winning the Girls Athletic Association award for outstanding athlete at Dearborn High School. She had a group of friends from Dearborn whom she remained close to throughout her life.

Joanne earned a journalism degree from the University of Michigan, where she worked on the Michigan Daily newspaper. While in college, she met and married Daniel André Hartnett in 1955. After graduation, they moved to Detroit and started their family. Living in Detroit in the 1960s, she earned her Master's Degree in Education (Marygrove College) and began a career as a teacher/reading specialist working in Detroit public schools and later Dearborn Heights schools. The family moved to Plymouth, MI, in 1968. A few years later, her husband was diagnosed with kidney disease; a hemodialysis machine was installed in their home and for the next two years, Joanne ran his treatment sessions—six hours at a time, three times a week—while continuing to work full time and raise the kids.

Her husband died in 1975, leaving Joanne and her five children, ages 9-17. She then decided to go to law school, working as a teacher by day and hammering out law school at night. Somehow, she still managed to attend the kids' basketball games, school band concerts, and early-Saturday morning hockey practices. She graduated from Detroit College of Law in 1980, was admitted to the State Bar of Michigan in 1981 and opened her own practice. She loved the law. After her retirement, she would carry a pocket-sized edition of the US Constitution and Bill of Rights. And, if a conversation with friends took a certain turn, she would pull that little book out of her purse and say, "Show me where it says that?" That's my mom—that's the Michigan woman she was.

In the 1980s, she moved up-north to Gaylord, MI, opened a small law office, and lived in a log cabin in the woods with her German Shepherd. After some years, she'd had enough of life in the woods, closed her law office and moved to Harbor Springs MI to be closer to her childhood friends and to enjoy the best of northern Michigan—camping in the Upper Peninsula, walking the Mackinac Bridge on Labor Day, enjoying her favorite hamburgers and fudge in Mackinaw City, frequenting the Harbor Springs library and keeping in shape with a regular cadence of swimming at Harbor Springs High School.

Like many of us from Michigan, my mom was a Lions fan, a Tigers fan, a Pistons fan, and a Red Wings fan. She spent many football Saturdays in Ann Arbor cheering on her beloved Michigan Wolverines. She cheered for all University of Michigan teams, but also supported other Big Ten school teams (when they weren't playing Michigan). She and my sisters had an annual tradition of going to March Madness basketball games together. It was never just about watching a particular team; it was about watching college basketball.

My mom was intelligent, independent, a skeptic, and sometimes a curmudgeon, but she was never anything other than herself. She would not provide her personal information to anything online, "They don't need to know anything about me," she'd say. She read the Detroit Free Press daily — I suggested she read the online version, but she said absolutely not, she wanted a paper copy to read while she enjoyed her coffee. Even with Alzheimer's these last few years, she retained her wit, her love of sports, and her joy of having a cup of coffee while reading the Detroit Free Press.

Michiganders are tough people. My mom was from Michigan, went to Michigan, and never wanted to leave Michigan—not for anything, not for anyone. I am the youngest of her children, now 59, and living in Colorado. I asked her to come join me in Colorado—the weather, the snow, the sun — but she would say, "Nah, I'm good." And when I pressed her—why won't you just move out here? She told me straight Oup: "Because this is where I'm from."

That was her—that's the Michigan woman she was. Michiganders lost one of our own in September. Her friends know, and her kids know that Joanne C. Hartnett was from Michigan -- Detroit, Dearborn, Plymouth, Gaylord, Harbor Springs, and Traverse City. All Michigan places, and she loved them all. Because that's where she was from.

Per her emphatic instructions, there will be no funeral or memorial services. Her cremated remains will be interred at Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth next to her husband. The family would like to thank the staff at Cherry Hill Haven of Traverse City and Hospice of Michigan for their compassionate and dignified care. For those who may want to remember Joanne with a donation, please consider Cherry Hill Haven's "The Lifetime Promise" fund (<https://baruchsls-ch-traverse-city.kindful.com/>) or Hospice of Michigan (<https://www.hom.org/>).

The Downtown Alden Business Association annual collection for the Rapid City Area Food. Pantry.

By Jan Schilling

ALDEN – Families everywhere in our country gather at Thanksgiving to share a meal and recognize all that we are thankful for.

Many are in need and it is not easy to provide such a bountiful meal.

Downtown ALDEN Business Association works hard at this time of year to collect money and canned goods For the Rapid City Area Food Pantry to help provide a special box for a holiday meal.

As a part of the drive, Kevin Young, owner of The Village Market in Rapid City and Elk Rapids opens his heart with an extraordinary donation of 30 turkeys to the food pantry.

The Rapid City Area Food Pantry is located at 9456 Valley Rd. In Rapid City and is open 10-2 on Fridays.

Pastor Christine Johnson of the Torch Lake Assembly of God oversees the official food pantry as they try to feed about 30-40 families in need per week.

Any donated funds are greatly appreciated and used to purchase specific foods for these holiday giving boxes.

On Small Business Saturday, November 29th, The Downtown Alden Business Association is sponsoring a Christmas Celebration outside at The Village Center from 5-7.

Canned goods and monetary donations for the food pantry will also be collected there.

The celebration includes cookies and crafts from 3-5 at The Alden United Methodist Church followed by a tree lighting at the Village Center and visit from Santa with gifts for children from the elves. Hot Cocoa from the Muffin Tin and snacks will be provided.

Downtown Alden Business Association will continue to collect monetary donations and canned goods through November 30th. Checks can be written to THE RAPID CITY AREA FOOD PANTRY, and mailed to Downtown Alden Business Association, PO Box 312, Alden, MI 49612.

Our collective donations help way beyond the holiday season, helping to fill pantry shelves into the cold months of winter.

“The Least of These My Brethren”

November 28, 2025

It was late August or early September, as I was beginning my junior year in high school. My father’s job had taken our family to Europe and I was attending the American Church in Paris for the first time. Listening to the choir, my soul was completely riveted by the anthem they gave. The tenor, singing the dramatic words of Jesus held me in utter thrall. When he sang “in prison, and ye came unto me,” the thrilling high notes of his voice touched me in a way I had never before experienced. The anthem is titled “Come, Ye Blessed.” It is based on the scripture from the Gospel according to Matthew, 25:34-40. Just in case you haven’t read this one recently, here it is as I first learned sit:

34 Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: 35 For I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: 36 Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me. 37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink? 38 When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? 39 Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee? 40 And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

As moved as I was by the musical setting of this scripture, so was I, and am I still, by the meaning of the words. It was Jesus himself who gave us instructions on how to treat one another, and He declared that what we do to one another we are also doing to Him.

We are moving now from autumn into winter. It will soon be upon us. And it will challenge us to remember the wisdom contained in Matthew’s retelling of Jesus’ lesson. Not only do we have to be extra careful and attentive for our own wellbeing, but we also have to be ready to help our neighbors and even strangers on the road. Last year, my husband and I were driving through snow and low visibility when we plowed straight into a snowbank clear up to the front wheel wells. And the snow was solidly packed under the vehicle frame as well. There was no way to rock our way out of that and we were several miles from any town. A man in a heavy-duty pickup truck, who had a tow rope happened along and saw our plight. He pulled us out of the snowbank. He refused any payment. His attitude was simple: someone was in need of help and he could provide that help – one human being helping another. The day might come when he is in need and we would be there to help him. That’s just the way people are supposed to be.

As I consider what my obligation is to my fellow human beings, and recognize that I have been blessed with the ability to be of help in times of need, as well as with the help of kind strangers many times already in my life, I come to the realization that it is not so much an obligation as it is an honor. Think of that! It is an honor to lend a helping hand to another person, and Jesus has already told us that whatever we do to others, we do to Him.

In these days of political upheaval, social incivility, and hatred inspired violence, it helps me to hear the lyrical line “Come, ye blessed of my father” singing in my head to remind me that the way of Jesus is kindness and compassion, and I am free to follow that path.

Well, that’s what I’ve been thinking about.
Shalom

Applesauce Inn

Orange Chocolate Chip Shortbread

Original recipe by Jamie Creason, Owner of the Applesauce Inn
Bed & Breakfast on M-88 in Bellaire (www.applesauceinn.com/).
Jamie also does special order baking.

Ingredients

- 1 cup (2 sticks) room temp unsalted butter
- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon kosher salt
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tbsp orange zest
- 1/2 cup mini chocolate chips

Preparation

Preheat oven to 375°F. Line baking sheets with parchment paper

Using an electric mixer on medium-high speed, beat butter, powdered sugar, salt and orange zest, until very light and fluffy, 3-5 minutes (beating air into butter makes for tender shortbread). Reduce speed to low, add flour and mix until just combined. Add chocolate chips and quick blend until fully incorporated.

Roll out dough and cut into desired shapes. Bake until cookies are lightly brown on edges, about 10-12 minutes. Transfer pan to a wire rack; let cool on pan.

Makes 1 ½ to 2 dozen.

Michigan Farm Bureau Supports Kalkaska-Area Hunger Relief Efforts Through Grants and Matching Donations

KALKASKA, Mich. – Michigan Farm Bureau Family of Companies (MFBFoC) and the Michigan Farm Bureau Insurance Agent Charitable Fund (ACF) are taking action to fight childhood food insecurity in Kalkaska County through two impactful initiatives: an Agents for Change grant awarded to Kalkaska Public Schools and a Double-Up Donation supporting Crossroads Farm at the Lanes.

Birch Street Elementary Grant

Kalkaska Public Schools recently received an Agents for Change grant of $2000 to provide healthy snacks for kindergarten students at Birch Street Elementary. The grant was made possible through a nomination by local Farm Bureau Insurance agent Chrissie M Feike, who recognized the need for nutritious options in classrooms.

“Upon speaking with the teachers, I learned that the snacks being provided by the parents are mostly sugary, non-filling snacks which are unhealthy more than 50% of the time,” said Feike. “Often, kids ask for more than one snack, and these teachers are spending a ton of their own money. Kalkaska has so much need that it’s hard to pinpoint just one, but this need starts with our youngest.”

Crossroads Farm Double-Up Donation

In addition, Northwest Michigan Farm Bureau has pledged a $2,500 donation to support food programming for children served by Crossroads Farm at the Lanes. The ACF will match this contribution, bringing the total donation to $5,000.

“Northwest County was looking for a way to be active and show support in Kalkaska County,” said Stephanie Morehouse, Northwest Michigan Farm Bureau Administrative Manager. “When this organization was presented by our North Managing Partner Jim Camp, our board agreed that this organization is doing good work for kids and wanted to support those programs.” The Double-Up Donation Program allows county Farm Bureaus to amplify their local hunger-relief efforts by matching contributions to organizations that align with ACF’s mission to end hunger in Michigan.

About the Agent Charitable Fund

The ACF is a donor-designated fund administered through the Michigan Foundation for Agriculture, a 501(c)(3) governed by Michigan Farm Bureau’s board of directors. Through programs like Agents for Change, Double-Up Donations, and Feeding the Future, Farm Bureau agents, clients, and partners provide food and educational resources to Michigan residents struggling with hunger, supporting more than 3,000 hunger-relief agencies statewide.

Operating at the intersection of market and moral missions, the MFBFoC envisions a Michigan where no child goes to bed hungry. By reinvesting proceeds into local communities and supporting effective programs, Michigan Farm Bureau is committed to making that vision a reality.
