

Dear Wylie UMC family,

“Come home for Christmas!” What a significant Advent theme with which to start my work among you as your interim pastor for the next three months.

Significant, in no small part, because my being here means the Johnsons have now added one more sweet member to their own family: Chandler Marie. What a blessing she has already discovered to be, born into our pastoral family, themselves surrounded by the love and support of all y’all.

Significant, too, because the very reason our church — any church — exists is to provide a sense of belonging, of home, for all. As Chandler Marie settles into her new life within the Johnson clan, I am absolutely convinced there will not be one single moment in her life when she will not know herself to be unconditionally and forever loved. Though she may not comprehend the meaning of that kind of love, she is certainly experiencing it.

For all of us, God has provided the church as a tangible expression of God’s unwavering, complete love — as real as Chandler Marie or any other child can experience. Our Advent theme is simply declaring that for the world to know they’re already loved, already welcomed, already home.

This is not something only to be experienced sometime later, deferred until a distant eternity. It is our present inheritance, our current reality and our living inheritance. It’s an invitation to claim what is already ours by God’s grace: the place to which we already belong, the family in which we will, right now, be loved and held.

This sense of fellowship and belonging is a known feature of this church — and one that will remain: to continue to welcome, include and demonstrate hospitality toward whoever enters.

Please pay attention to those who cross your paths this Advent season. They might well be needing this kind of unconditional acceptance and welcome. Whatever needs they have, whatever failures they’ve experienced, whatever paths down which they have wandered — please encourage them to “come home.”

We’d love to share this hope, this peace, this joy, this love with any and all this season! I so look forward to making this Advent a fresh start for many, many more.

Welcome home!

Blessings,
Pastor Jeremy

THANK YOU!

Learning Academy Preschool would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to Wylie UMC for your generous support of our recent fundraisers. Your participation in the October poinsettia sale and the November Taco Night helped make both events a wonderful success!

Poinsettias will be picked up by Helayna and me on Friday, December 5. If you ordered poinsettias for your home, they will be available for pickup Sunday, December 7, in the back of the sanctuary. Thanks to your orders, our worship space will be beautifully decorated for the season.

Our teachers are also grateful for the delicious cookies provided by Julie Davis in October and November. Julie serves on the LAP Board, and her hospitality has been a great blessing—thank you, Julie!

We also celebrated a joyful LAP Fall Program on Thursday, November 20. The children sang their hearts out, and the LAP Board provided tasty treats for families following the performance. It was a wonderful evening of community and celebration.
