

WEEKEND READINGS

Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time
Decimoquinto Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario

Today’s Gospel challenges us to expand our understanding of who our “neighbor” truly is. Jesus reminds us that love of God must be expressed through concrete acts of compassion toward others. The priest and the Levite pass by the injured man, while the Samaritan — someone seen as an outsider — stops to help. This parable invites us to examine whether we are too quick to judge or too slow to act. True discipleship means going beyond comfort, beyond convenience, and often beyond cultural or social divisions. Mercy, not status, defines a follower of Christ. Jesus calls each of us to “go and do likewise,” living a love that sees no boundaries. When we open our hearts to others, especially those in need, we reflect the very heart of God. God places people along our path not by accident, but so we may learn to love as He loves. El Evangelio de hoy nos invita a ampliar nuestra comprensión de quién es verdaderamente nuestro “prójimo.” Jesús nos recuerda que el amor a Dios debe expresarse con actos concretos de compasión hacia los demás. El sacerdote y el levita pasan de largo ante el hombre herido, mientras que el samaritano — considerado un extranjero — se detiene a ayudar. Esta parábola nos invita a examinar si juzgamos demasiado rápido o si actuamos con demasiada lentitud. El verdadero discipulado va más allá de la comodidad, de la conveniencia y de las divisiones sociales o culturales. La misericordia, y no el estatus, es lo que define a un seguidor de Cristo. Jesús nos llama a “hacer lo mismo,” viviendo un amor que no conoce fronteras. Cuando abrimos el corazón a los demás, especialmente a quienes más lo necesitan, reflejamos el mismo corazón de Dios. Dios pone personas en nuestro camino no por accidente, sino para que aprendamos a amar como Él ama.
