

WEEKEND READINGS

Twelfth Sunday in Ordinary Time Duodécimo Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario

This Sunday's readings remind us that fear is a part of being human, but it does not have to control our lives. We may face opposition, rejection, or uncertainty, yet we can trust that the Lord is always at our side and remain faithful to Him. God welcomes our prayers and hears us in times of trouble. Many of our fears arise from the possibility of losing what we value most, but Jesus assures us in today's Gospel that we are precious in God's eyes and worth more than many sparrows. While sin and suffering entered the world through Adam, God's grace through Christ is far greater than any loss we may endure. Knowing that our lives are held securely in the hands of a loving Father gives us courage to face the future with hope. When fear tempts us to remain silent or discouraged, we are called to trust God's promises and witness to Christ with confidence. May we place our trust in the Lord this week, remembering that His love is stronger than our fears.

Las lecturas de este domingo nos recuerdan que el miedo es parte de nuestra condición humana, pero no tiene por qué controlar nuestras vidas. Podemos enfrentar oposición, rechazo o incertidumbre, pero podemos confiar en que el Señor siempre está a nuestro lado y permanecer fieles a Él. Dios acoge nuestras oraciones y nos escucha en los momentos de dificultad. Muchos de nuestros temores surgen de la posibilidad de perder aquello que más valoramos, pero Jesús nos asegura en el Evangelio de hoy que somos valiosos a los ojos de Dios y que valemos más que muchos gorriones. Aunque el pecado y el sufrimiento entraron en el mundo por medio de Adán, la gracia de Dios en Cristo es mucho más grande que cualquier pérdida que podamos experimentar. Saber que nuestras vidas están seguras en las manos de un Padre amoroso nos da el valor para enfrentar el futuro con esperanza. Cuando el miedo nos tienta a guardar silencio o a desanimarnos, estamos llamados a confiar en las promesas de Dios y a dar testimonio de Cristo con confianza. Que esta semana pongamos nuestra confianza en el Señor, recordando que su amor es más fuerte que nuestros temores.
