

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8

9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16

17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24

Freyja's Aett - CHANGE

Fehu (FEY-HOO) WEALTH	Uruz (OO-ROOZ) STRENGTH	Thurisaz (THOO-REE-SAWS) CHANGE	Ansuz (AWN-SOOZ) COMMUNICATION	Raidho (RYE-THOUGH) JOURNEY	Kenaz (KANE-AWZ) VISION	Gebo (GAY BOE) GIFTS	Wunio (WOON-YO) JOY
This rune represents abundance and prosperity. This abundance can take the form in health , wealth, hope and happiness. It is symbolic of fertility and creation, as well as income and material possessions.	This rune represents speed, strength and unlimited potential. Vibrant health, energy, courage, tenacity and action. It can also be related to sexuality, potency and masculine energy.	This rune represents a force of destruction or defence and indicates some kind of conflict. It can represent a powerful catalyst for change, similar to a purging flame that clears everything in its path to create space for the new. This is not always a pleasant experience, but ultimately it is beneficial.	This rune represents some kind of message, signal or communication. Seek advice, wisdom, truth and guidance appearing around this issue.	This rune represents travel, which can be physical or metaphorical. A change in location, journey or transformation. A change of perception or revelation.	This rune represents inspiration, revelation, vision and knowledge. The vitality of fire, and the power of light. The ability to forge and create one's own reality, or the availability of a source of strength, energy or power.	This rune represents exchanges, contracts, relationships and partnerships. It indicates a balance of interaction, sacrifice and receiving generosity	This rune represents joy, pleasure, comfort, prosperity and harmony, which may come as the result of spiritual commitment or achievement. A recognition of success and worth.

Heimdall's Aett - ACTION

 Hagalaz (HAW-GA-LAWZ) CHAOS TO HARMONY This rune represents the destructive wrath of nature, or uncontrolled forces (possibly emotions, or the unconscious mind). This often represents a trial or crisis which, when lead to completion, ultimately promotes harmony.	 Nauthiz (NAW-THEEZ) ENDURANCE This rune represents delays, restrictions and resistance, leading to strength, innovation and self-reliance. This change must be initiated by the querent or persons involved. Endurance, survival, determination, patience and will.	 Isa (EE_SAW) INTROSPECTION This rune represents a challenge or frustration. This is a time to turn inward and wait for clarity or progression.	 Jera (JARE-AWE/ JERAW) TRIUMPH This rune represents the end result, the product of previous efforts. Reaping what you have sown. A time of peace, hope, expectation and prosperity.	 Eihwaz (EYE-WAWZ) DEPENDABILITY This rune represents strength, reliability, trustworthiness and dependability. Indicates a reasonable and honest venture or individual.	 Perthro (PERTH -RAW) FORESIGHT This rune represents secrecy, uncertainty, mystery and the occult. It can involve one's future path that is currently hidden or uncertain. Relates to feminine energies, fertility and potential for change.	 Algiz (AL-YEEZ) PROTECTION This rune represents protection or a shield. It can be the urge to protect oneself or others, to ward off evil and protect what one has. It can also represent another protective force.	 Sowilo (SO-WEE-LO) POWER This rune represents power, success, achieved goals and a sense of honour. It can appear in the form of health, life-force, positive change and success. Wholeness, power, influence.
---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Tyr's Aett - RESULTS

 Tiwaz (TEE-WAWZ) PROTECTION This rune represents a force of honour, justice, leadership and authority. Understanding one's strengths and weaknesses. Self-sacrifice. Victory and triumph.	 Berkano (BEHR-KAW-NO) RENEWAL This rune represents fertility, birth and growth and can be related to mental, emotional or physical aspects. Regeneration, renewal, promise, and new beginnings. Love, blossoming and creation.	 Ehwaz (AY-WAWZ) MOVEMENT This rune represents transportation or a vehicle, and/or movement in a better direction. It indicates gradual change, progress and development as well has trust, working with others and being loyal.	 Mannaz (MAWH-NAWZ) CREATIVITY This rune can represent the self, or humanity as a whole. Social order, friendships, divine structure, and cooperation. Suggestion of some kind of aid or cooperation.	 Laguz (LAW-GOOZ) IMAGINATION This rune represents the flow of water or a source of healing power and renewal, life energy and growth. Related to imagination and psychic matters, dreams and fantasies.	 Ingwaz (ING-WAWZ) VIRTUES This rune represents masculinity, fertility and internal growth. Virtues, common sense, strength, family bonds, human warmth and caring. It can also represent the home or a time or relief and refuge where everything falls into place, leaving you free to move in a new direction.	 Dagaz (THAW-GAUZE) WILL This rune represents a breakthrough, clarity, awakening or awareness. A time for planning, change directed by will, transformation, security, certainty, hope and happiness. Balance.	 Othala (OH-THAW-LA) SOURCE This rune represents property, possessions, a home or some other important source, often inherited. It indicates aid in spiritual and physical journeys, a source of safety, increase or abundance.
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------