

Florida's Homegrown Food Bank

Farm Share is privileged to have you partner with Farm Share as a Local Agency (LA). Additionally, Farm Share is grateful that you recognize how important our mission is to feed Florida families and we are thankful that you can join us in our fight against hunger.

It was brought to our attention that several organizations may be engaging in selective distributions of Farm Share commodities to a particular group of individuals, or that they may condition the receipt of commodities to enrollment in particular programs or organizations, what is considered recruitment. Recruitment are activities designated to persuade an individual to apply for certain benefits; television, radio or billboard advertisements that are designed to promote benefits and enrollment in certain programs.

The distribution of commodities under the Farm Share program are open to the general public, therefore any Local Agency MAY NOT engage in any type of proselytism (the policy of attempting to convert people's religious or political beliefs) or recruiting to participate in the local agency's activities as well as distributing Farm Share foods to a limited group of people (i.e. members of a congregation or any particular organization only).

Please be advised that this regulation is mandatory and that all participating agencies must remain in compliance.

Any agency found engaging in these practices will be automatically terminated from participating in any Farm Share program.

By signing, you agree that you and your organization will comply with this regulation and that your agency will be held responsible for the non-compliance.
