Deacon Tim Sullivan

EUCCHARIST

The act of God in freeing the Jewish people from slavery in Egypt begins with a meal, the Passover described in Exodus 12. This sets the stage for another meal, the Eucharist, described in John 6, in which Jesus says repeatedly that whoever eats His flesh and drinks His blood will have eternal life. This cost him many of His followers, who clearly understood but rejected what Jesus said.

At the Last Supper, Jesus changes bread into His body and wine into His blood by proclaiming the words "This is my body" and "This is my blood." We take these words literally. Then He instructs the disciples to imitate what He has done. So we believe, as did the early Church, that the words of Jesus repeated by the priest result in the changing of the bread and wine into Jesus' body and blood.

The Mass is, above all, a sacrifice, in which the suffering and death of Jesus are re-presented. Pope St. John Paul II wrote that "Jesus offered this sacrifice for the salvation of the human race and returned to the Father only after he had left us a means of sharing in it as if we had been present there."

In receiving the body and blood of Jesus, we are united in the most powerful way with Jesus. If we believe that Jesus is fully present in the Eucharist and expect an outpouring of His grace when we receive Him, His sacrifice transforms our lives.

MEALS OF MERCY

Thank you to Meals of Mercy Team 4 for your compassionate service at the funeral reception for Donna Corum. The meal was beautifully prepared and greatly appreciated by the family. A special note of appreciation to Team Captain Diane Bechtel for her leadership. (continued)

Also, thank you to all of the Meals of Mercy team members who volunteered to serve at Forrest Cameron's funeral reception. With many of our volunteers away for training or out of town, your willingness to step in and help was especially appreciated. Because of your generosity and service, the reception was beautiful, and Forrest's family was deeply grateful.

Thank you all for sharing your time and talents to care for both families during this difficult time. Your kindness truly reflected Christ's love.
