A PROFESSIONAL AND CARING SERVICE

Much has been said regarding the funeral industry in Australia – particularly in relation to ownership by large corporates and multi-nationals. Notwithstanding many funeral service brands out there, many of the large ones have been corporatised at the expense of providing a compassionate, caring and cost-effective service to families and communities.

It is the funeral homes which are 100% Australian Owned and Operated, which are holding on to community values, continuing to provide an essential service to Aussie families.

Bill Lee, who owned Dignified Funerals (1961 – 1987) and William Lee & Sons (1992 – 1996), was well known and respected in the funeral industry. As his grandson, I have a well-established knowledge and tradition within the funeral industry and with many communities in Sydney.

Perhaps no other service rendered to the public is as intimate and personal as that of the Funeral Director. Caring Funerals has been established to support the diverse needs and cultural traditions of all communities and their families, because we recognise that no one wants a 'standard' service. At Caring Funerals, we care about family values and traditions because we are a family – a family that collectively has more than 100 years experience serving the people of Sydney.

At Caring Funerals, we give the kind of caring attention that only one family can give to another – and we give it 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. We can come to your home to make all arrangements, from Newcastle, the Blue Mountains to Wollongong.

We are perfectionists about delivering you and your family a service which truly honours the life of your loved one – and we would be honoured in turn to be trusted by you at such an important time.

Please feel free to call us anytime on (02) 9713 1555 to discuss funeral services – whether that be an immediate need, or to discuss pre-paid or pre-arrangement options.
