

Production Associate

Company

Q5X designs and manufactures professional wireless microphone transmitters and receivers for use in broadcast sports and entertainment. We sell globally; both directly and through Shure Inc. sports leagues (NBA, NHL, NFL, MLB), broadcasters (ESPN, Turner, Disney) and reality TV productions (Big Brother, Love Island, Shark Tank and Jimmy Kimmel Live). Our team is comprised of engineers and designers who excel at delivering timely solutions to allow our users to capture audio in new ways. Our innovative projects offer our employees the opportunity to grow every day.

Position

The candidate will work with the production team to build our lineup of products under the supervision of the production lead and/or R&D team. The position requires performing basic tasks such as, pouring cases, creating sub-assemblies, prepping parts, and painting end products to company specifications. The position does not require any specific education or previous work experience and caters to anyone interested in hobby work, attention to detail and process-driven work. This is a full-time position based at our London, ON facilities.

Skills, Abilities & Qualifications

The ideal candidate will be:

- Someone who has great attention to detail.
- Someone with a strong work ethic and ability to work independently and as part of a team.
- Someone who is great at repetitive work, while also good at multitasking
