Matthew 14:22-33

At times, we imagine that the Lord is hidden from us or is absent from our lives, especially when we need him the most. The reality is, in fact, that we are the ones who fail to recognize him. The Lord is always in our midst.

In today's first reading, the prophet Elijah waits for the passing of the Lord, but the Lord is neither in the noises around him, or in the fire; rather, the Lord passes through the gentle breeze. In the Gospel reading, when the apostles see Jesus walking on the water, they at first confuse him for a ghost. When Peter goes to ensure that he is, indeed, the Lord, Jesus invites Peter to join him on the water, but Peter begins to sink out of fear, and Jesus saves him.

In our own lives, we have similar experiences. Surrounded by shadows that confuse us on our journey, we sometimes fail to recognize that Jesus is always at our side. But once we realize that the Lord is present in the compassionate voice of a friend, family member, priest, or lay minister, we are able to turn our hearts toward him, and thank him for his help in difficult times. Is it true that we sometimes fail to recognize Christ Jesus in others? Can we point out some of the reasons why this might be true?

First Reading 1 Kings 19:9a, 11-13a Elijah the prophet heard the Lord's voice not in wind, not in an earthquake nor in fire, but in a tiny whisper. When he heard the Lord, Elijah hid his face in his cloak, overcome with awe.

Responsorial Psalm 85:9, 10, 11-12, 13-14

Second Reading Romans 9:1-5 Paul wrote that he would willingly accept being separated from the Christ for the sake of his fellow Israelites, from whom came the Messiah.

Gospel Matthew 14:22-33 Jesus walked on the water. He called to Peter in the boat with the other disciples. Peter stepped out on the water until his faith faltered and he began to sink. Then Jesus stretched out his hand to save Peter.
