

February 11, 2026

This past Sunday, I shared a message that came not only from my heart, but one I believe reflects the heart of our church—and more importantly, the heart of God. If you missed it, I encourage you to watch it on Facebook or through our website. The message, The One, is truly rooted in God’s heart for His people.

As I shared during the message, this is not about numbers, attendance, appearances, or bragging rights. It is about growing God’s Kingdom and living out the mission of Wildermuth Memorial Church—and really, the mission of every Christian. We are called to be teaching, preaching, and discipling through relationships and love (Matthew 28:19). That is our mission, and the vision we were challenged with on Sunday—reaching “The One”—is how we live it out.

I was deeply encouraged by the response during the message—the nodding heads, the “yeses” and “amens,” and the engagement from those watching online or reaching out afterward. It was uplifting to see so many willing, at least in that moment, to accept the challenge. The true test now is whether we put action behind that commitment.

So here is the challenge: identify your “One.” Begin praying and ask God to reveal who He is calling you to reach. Pray for them. Pray about how to reach them. Look for opportunities to spend time together, build a relationship, and share life. Then, when God opens the door, invite them—to a fellowship event, to church. Move from the initial “Hello, my name is...” – to “Would you like to meet this dear friend of mine, Jesus?”

If you are already walking this journey with someone, this Sunday provides a wonderful opportunity to invite them as John Cooper joins us to portray President Abraham Lincoln and share Lincoln’s faith journey.

Blessings,
Pastor Vance
