JUNE 12: THE SACRED HEART OF JESUS

The Church, from the day of Pentecost, when the Lord gave birth to her by pouring out the Holy Spirit, sees the world from a different perspective. We are called to see the world from this perspective, of the Lord Jesus and his heart which burns with love for all humanity. June is the month of the Sacred Heart, a time to reflect upon the heart of God's Son.

On Friday, June 12, we will celebrate the Solemnity of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. The bishops of the United States will also consecrate our nation in this 250th year of its birth, to the Sacred Heart, on June 11. Our Archbishop is also calling upon on us to renew our devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus through a beautiful pastoral letter on this special devotion, which expands our heart with Christ's passionate love for us. In the next couple of weeks, it will be inserted into our bulletin in 2 parts - the ways to practice this devotion.

As we enter into this month of the Sacred Heart, may I also invite us all to pray the Litany of the Sacred Heart in our personal prayer. May it remind us of the abundant love and grace that flows for the Sacred Heart of Jesus and the call the we each have received to pass on testify to this love in our broken world:

Heart of God, Heart of Flesh The History of Devotion to the Sacred Heart

How the devotion started

The heart of Christ has been a focal point of Catholic devotion for centuries. Mystics like St. Gertrude the Great (1256-1302) and St. Catherine of Siena (1342-1380) meditated on the open side of Christ and his heart pierced for the sins of the human family. St. John Eudes (1641-1680) was the first to promote the liturgical observance of a feast in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

St. Margaret Mary Alacoque's visions

Then, on December 26, 1673, Christ appeared to a 26-year-old nun in a Visitation convent in Paray-le-Monial, a town in Burgundy. Christ showed Margaret Mary his heart: burning with love, pierced with thorns. She wrote: "He revealed to me the wonders of his love and the inexplicable secrets of his Sacred Heart which he had hitherto kept hidden from me." Jesus instructed Margaret Mary not to keep this grace to herself.

Christ's mission: to share his love and mercy

Jesus gave St. Margaret Mary a mission: to share the love and mercy of Christ, reflected in the image of the Sacred Heart, far and wide. Through St. Margaret Mary, Christ called his faithful to frequent Eucharistic communion, especially on the First Friday of each month; to adoration of the Blessed Sacrament; to prayer of reparation for those who have neglected Christ's great love, especially in the Eucharist; and above all, to trust in his love and mercy.

With the help of her confessor, St. Claude de la Colombière, SJ, St. Margaret Mary was able to fulfill the mission Christ gave her. The image of the Sacred Heart, and its powerful message of Christ's mercy, spread rapidly and has become one of the most familiar of all Catholic images.

“Learn from Me for I Am Meek and Humble of Heart”

A Pastoral Letter on the Sacred Heart of Jesus

+Archbishop Paul D. Etienne

To the Clergy, Consecrated Religious, and Lay Faithful of the Archdiocese:

Grace to you and peace in Jesus Christ our Lord!

This year, we celebrate the 250th anniversary of the founding of the United States of America. To mark this occasion, the bishops of this country will consecrate the United States to the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus on June 11. This consecration offers an opportune moment to rediscover the devotion to the Sacred Heart. This devotion has its roots in the 17th century. But devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus is more timely than ever because, as Jesuit Father John Croiset has written, “properly understood it is nothing else than an exercise of love. Love is its object, love is its motive and principle, and it is love that ought to be its end.”

The Witness of St. Margaret Mary Alacoque

Between 1673 and 1675, Sister Margaret Mary Alacoque, a Visitation nun in Paray-le-Monial, France, experienced three great revelations in which Jesus shared with her the mystery of his heart — and through her, with the whole world. Jesus revealed his heart, on fire with love: “Behold, this Heart which has so loved human beings that it has spared nothing, even to exhausting and consuming itself, in order to testify its love.” Jesus asked Sister Margaret Mary to receive Communion on the first Friday of each month, to pray in expiation for the indifference and ingratitude of so many for whom he died and to work to establish a feast in honor of the Sacred Heart on the octave day of Corpus Christi, the Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ.

In the revelations made to Sister Margaret Mary, we see Christ’s response to the ingratitude of the human race: the revelation of his ardent love. The core principle of this devotion is the overflowing love of God, a merciful love that overcomes sin and evil. “Unable to contain within Himself the flames of His ardent charity, and yet not able to chastise His ungrateful creatures, He resolved to vanquish them by force of tenderness.” On the cross, Christ’s pierced side is opened, and his heart longs to come forth.

Growing Up with the Sacred Heart of Jesus

From St. Margaret Mary’s quiet convent in France, devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus spread rapidly across the world. Like many of you, I grew up with this image and devotion. I was blessed to grow up in a devout home. Our Catholic tradition holds that parents are the first teachers of their children in the ways of faith, and that was true in our family. I do not remember learning my prayers. I just grew up knowing them. One early memory of childhood is praying together before every family meal. After the traditional grace before meals, we always prayed together the following Morning Offering, a prayer with its roots in devotion to the Sacred Heart.

O Jesus, through the Immaculate Heart of Mary, I offer you my prayers, works, joys and sufferings of this day for the intentions of your Sacred Heart, in union with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass throughout the world in reparation for our sins, for all our associates, and in particular for the intentions recommended this month by the Holy Father. Mary, Queen of Peace, pray for us. Amen.

Perhaps more than any other aspect of the devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, this simple prayer has helped me learn to not only offer each day to the Lord, but also to be with the Lord in everything I do throughout the day. That is the ultimate goal of the devotion: to live in greater communion and intimacy with Jesus.

In the Church, devotions like the Sacred Heart are not just prayers to say: These devotions are meant to be lived. They are meant to draw us to greater union with Christ and, through him, to grow in the divine life of grace and holiness. Besides the Morning Offering, another traditional practice of the devotion to the Sacred Heart is enthroning an image of the Sacred Heart in the home. On both sides of the family, my grandparents were devoted to the Sacred Heart. One set of grandparents had paintings of the Sacred Heart and the Immaculate Heart of Mary hanging in their dining room. The other grandparents had statues of the Sacred Heart and of Our Lady of Grace on their bedroom dresser. I felt quite blessed to inherit them after my grandparents died. I still have the Sacred Heart statue (at left) on my bedroom dresser. Sadly, the statue of Our Lady did not survive the 2018 earthquake in Alaska! These holy images are meant to be contemplated, to keep Jesus and his mother before us and to call them to mind frequently throughout the day. It is good to invoke the Lord with great confidence: Sacred Heart of Jesus, have mercy on us. Immaculate Heart of Mary, pray for us. As the Scriptures tell us: “Keep your eyes fixed on Jesus” (Hebrews 12:2). In my own journey of faith, the devotion to the Sacred Heart has helped me draw closer to Jesus, to love him with heart, soul and strength (cf. Deuteronomy 6:4-9). That is why I am inviting all of us in this local Church to rediscover this beautiful devotion.

The Heart of Jesus: Revelation, Not Metaphor

When Jesus speaks of his heart in the Gospel, he is not merely offering a poetic image or inviting sentiment. He is revealing the interior truth of his person. In those words, “I am meek and humble of heart” (Matthew 11:29), the Son of God opens to us the deepest center of his human and divine life. The Church’s devotion to the Sacred Heart arises precisely from these words of Christ. As the tradition — as documented by Jesuit Father John Croiset in the book “The Devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus” — makes clear, “The particular object of this devotion is the immense love of the Son of God, which induced Him to deliver Himself up to death for us and to give Himself entirely to us in the Blessed Sacrament of the altar.” The Heart of Jesus, therefore, is not an image to be contemplated, but a person to be known, a love to be received, and a mystery into which the Church is drawn. When the Church speaks of the “heart” of Christ, we do not contemplate his heart separate from his body. As Pope Francis taught, “Devotion to the heart of Christ is not the veneration of a single organ apart from the Person of Jesus. What we contemplate and adore is the whole Jesus Christ, the Son of God made man, represented by an image that accentuates his heart.” When we speak of the heart of Christ, then, we are speaking of Christ’s immense love, which consumed his whole being. True devotion to the Sacred Heart is devotion to the love of the Incarnate Son, crucified and risen, who gives himself entirely for the life of the world.

The Heart of Christ and the Wounded

Human Heart

In the Gospels, Jesus consistently identifies the human heart as the center of moral and spiritual life: "From within people, from their hearts, come evil thoughts..." (Mark 7:21; cf. Matthew 15:19). The disorder of the world; the divisions within families, communities and even within the Church — these are not just structural or political problems. They begin in the human heart. Devotion to the Sacred Heart speaks directly to this reality. It does so without naiveté, recognizing that the obstacles to conversion are often interior: tepidity, self-love, pride and passions left unchecked. The Sacred Heart is proposed not as a rebuke to our humanity, but as a remedy — the divine response to the wounded human heart. In the revelation of the Sacred Heart, the Heart of Christ is revealed as full of love and mercy for us. From this heart flows the grace that alone can heal what sin has disfigured. In Christ, God does not merely call us to conversion; he gives a new heart. I recall the words of Catholic writer Flannery O'Connor: "All human nature vigorously resists grace because grace changes us and the change is painful." Christ came into the world precisely to give us this grace. Perhaps his love is what gives us the motivation to overcome this resistance and to receive and share the immense love of God: Heart speaks to heart.

Christ Dwelling in the Heart of the Believer

The New Testament deepens this mystery by proclaiming that the love revealed in the Heart of Jesus is not something external to us. St. Paul writes: "Christ lives in me" (Galatians 2:20) and "the love of God has been poured out into our hearts through the Holy Spirit" (Romans 5:5). Devotion to the Sacred Heart, rightly understood, is profoundly sacramental and ecclesial. It is ordered toward communion and unity: Christ dwelling in the heart of the believer and shaping the believer's heart according to His own. The purpose, then, of devotion to the Sacred Heart is not emotional consolation, but transformation. The ultimate goal of this devotion is that the heart of Jesus and the human heart become one. A mature Christian life is one lived in, with and for Christ — a life filled with, and motivated by, ardent love caught from Christ's own loving heart. That love is what forms disciples, sustains fidelity and sends the Church on mission.

Reparation: Love Responding to Love

If devotion to the Sacred Heart begins in the revelation of Christ's love, it leads toward reparation — not as a burden imposed upon the faithful, but as the proper response of love to love rejected. Reparation must not remain at the margins of Christian life, but at its very center, for it flows directly from communion with the crucified and risen Lord. To speak of reparation is to acknowledge a sober truth: Love can be refused. St. John Fisher, the English bishop who was martyred in 1535, lamented that "we give no thought to his love, nor do we recognize the extent of his kindnesses to us ... the remarkable mercy that he has continually shown to sinners does not move us to form our lives and conduct according to his most holy command." Reparation is the Church's refusal to remain indifferent where Christ's love has been ignored, forgotten or despised. Yet reparation is never an attempt to "add" to Christ's saving work. Rather, it is the grace-filled participation of the baptized in his one sacrifice. As the tradition wisely counsels, "Unite the little which you do to the infinite amount which Jesus Christ accomplishes. Thus, while doing nothing yourself, you shall do much through Jesus Christ." Reparation is not self-reliance; it is communion.

STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION SOLEMNITY OF THE MOST HOLY TRINITY

EX 34:4B-6, 8-9; DN 3:52-56; 2 COR 13:11-13; JN 3:16-18

Today we celebrate the Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity — the central mystery of our Christian faith. While the Trinity is beyond our full understanding, it reveals something essential for us as Christian stewards. The Trinity is a communion of Persons — Father, Son, and Holy Spirit — who give themselves completely to one another in perfect love. This self-giving love is at the heart of the stewardship way of life. In our first reading, God reveals Himself to Moses as “a merciful and gracious God, slow to anger and rich in kindness and fidelity.” The God of the universe desires to be known and to share His life with His people. This is not a distant God, but a personal and loving God.

St. Paul echoes this in the second reading, reminding us that we are invited into this divine life — “the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit.” Through our Baptism, this divine communion already dwells within us. In our Gospel, we hear the heart of it all: “God so loved the world that he gave his only Son.” God gives Himself to us completely. This is the model for our lives. As Christian stewards, we are called to respond in the same way — by giving ourselves back to God and to others. Stewardship is not simply about managing resources. It is about self-gift. It is about living a life that reflects the love of the Trinity. This means offering our time in service, our talents in ministry, and our treasure in support of the Church’s mission. It means living in relationship — with God and with one another — in a spirit of generosity and love. The more we live this way, the more we grow in intimacy with God. The more we give ourselves, the more we experience “the grace of the Lord, the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit” in our lives. Today, let us reflect on the love of this Triune God. And let us respond by striving to live lives of self-giving love through the stewardship way of life.

Holy Innocents Parish Appreciation

Thank You

“Seeds of Gratitude for all that you do”

Holy Innocents Parish
Appreciation
May 31, 2026
Feast of the Most Holy Trinity

In appreciation and recognition for parishioners who faithfully share their time and talent in ministry and service at Holy Innocents, we honor and celebrate you today. Everyone is invited to pick up a paper seed cross on your way out of mass as a simple gift of gratitude for all you do!

St Vincent de Paul
Holy Innocents Conference
5th Sunday SVdP --- Giving Sunday!

We Make a Difference!

We are volunteer members of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, a large Catholic lay organization.

We make home visits where we're there to comfort and help. We listen carefully and gather information needed to determine how we can best assist.

Whether a neighbor needs assistance in paying rent, utilities, food, or emotional support and guidance, or more, we are there.

We are funded by your donations. Your help is crucial in helping our neighbors in need.

Interested in helping? Please contribute by check or on our Holy Innocents website, or volunteer to be one of our team members.

For information: 831-747-4220 Connie Dunn, President.

Come join us for the last Saturday Night Diner of the Knights' year! This year we end with a nod to Cinco de Mayo – as Mexico comes to St. Jude. We'll enjoy a festive "street truck" dinner with a decidedly Mexican flair: shredded pork make-your-own taco/burritos with over 20 incredible toppings! And what's a Mexican feast without the sweet treat of churros! You're not going to want to miss this celebratory meal so please plan to join us Saturday, May 30th!
