Annual Report, 2022-2023
The Center for Historic Preservation
Middle Tennessee State University

August 29, 2023

2022-2023 Annual Report
This quarter, we continue our tradition of sharing our annual report as our Fall newsletter. Among the projects highlighted in the 2022-2023 edition are the publication of a new curriculum, WWII Home Front in Tennessee, by our Teaching with Primary Sources--MTSU Program; a Historic Structure Report and Preservation Assessments for the Chapman-Singleton House and two African American cemeteries in Bedford County, by the Tennessee Civil War National Heritage Area; a Heritage Development Plan for the Cumberland Homesteads Tower Museum; a National Register Nomination of Bruce High School in Dyersburg; and a Historical Context Report on the Hildebrand House on the Trail of Tears in Polk County, by our National Historic Trails Program.

The report features the work and accomplishments of our graduate research assistants. Our students worked on projects in Tennessee and beyond, helping to complete such national projects as a Missouri Trail of Tears Interpretive Plan; a National Register Nomination of the Gardner Farm in Lowndes County, Alabama (part of the Selma-to-Montgomery National Historic Trail); and exhibits for the Ethnic Community History Center at the historic B’nai Israel Synagogue in Butte, Montana.

We welcome your comments and questions at histpres@mtsu.edu. Be sure to follow us on Facebook and Instagram.

In January, we will send out our Winter 2024 newsletter in the standard format, including our Formers’ Corner video feature.
Subscribe to our email list.