Nehemiah 11-12

A high-angle, wide shot of a densely packed hillside village. The houses are built on a steep slope, with terracotta roofs and walls in various colors like yellow, orange, and red. Many windows have blue or green shutters. The overall scene is a vibrant, textured mosaic of old European architecture.

A large red brick church with a dark grey shingled roof and a prominent steeple. The church features several tall, narrow arched windows with stained glass. A small covered entrance is visible on the left side. In the background, a tall white water tower stands against a blue sky with scattered white clouds. The overall scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.
