6th JULY 2025

14th SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME (Year C)

O unspeakable goodness of God!
He takes offence at our being disheartened;
He expects from us a courage as great, if that were possible, as His goodness: an infinite courage.
Who could impose this obligation except God, a God infinitely good and infinitely powerful?

Let us then in our distress say with the Apostle, "If God is with us, who is against us?"

"The harvest is plentiful, but the labourers are few. Therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out labourers into his harvest..." (Luke 10:2)

O God, who in the abasement of your Son have raised up a fallen world, fill your faithful with holy joy, for on those you have rescued from slavery to sin you bestow eternal gladness.
Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God, for ever and ever.
Amen.

Pope Leo XIV at Ordination Mass

"Our hope is grounded in the knowledge that the Lord never abandons us: He is always at our side." Pope Leo XIV expressed this at the Mass for the ordination of the 32 new priests that took place in St. Peter's Basilica on the Solemnity of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, 27 June, which also marks the Day of Prayer for the Sanctification of Priests. Pope Leo continued, "At the same time, we are called to cooperate with Him, above all by putting the Eucharist at the centre of our lives, in as much as it is 'the source and summit of the Christian life.'" Also the Pope recalled that in the first reading, the Prophet Ezekiel describes God as a shepherd who watches over his flock, counting his sheep one by one, seeking out the lost, binding up the wounded, and strengthening the weak and sick. "He thus reminds us, in this age of vast and devastating conflicts, that the love of God has no limits... We are called to let ourselves be embraced and shaped by that love, and to realize that in God's eyes—and our own as well—there is no place for division and hatred of any kind." Towards the end, the Pope reminded that from the earliest communities on, the Church has raised up priests who have been martyrs, tireless apostles, missionaries, and champions of charity. "Cherish this treasure: learn their stories, study their lives and work, imitate their virtues, be inspired by their zeal, and invoke their intercession often and insistently!... Keep their memory alive by your own example of fidelity." (Read the full article on: www.cbcew.org.uk/pope-leo-xiv-at-ordination-mass-may-priests-be-shaped-by-gods-love/)

God's Love for You

Christian Family Life

When Jesus came to this world, He did not chose to suddenly appear in the midst of people or no one knows where He came from, and began His Mission and Ministry that the Father have given Him. Instead He chose to born in a humble family, grew up in a family, and was subject to His parents.
This shows us the importance of a good family life, since family is meant to be a place of nurturing the future of our next generation. The example of the Holy Family at Nazareth showed us the fruit that it will bear when the Holy Child was raised in a family that was in union with God, abided to the Law, and loved each other and their neighbours. St John Vianney said in one of his Sermons: "The family received from God a threefold mission: The care of the material life, the spiritual life and the supernatural life." Not only the child's physical body requires its tender loving care, but the soul also needs to be 'cultivate' - parents has the responsibility and necessary to bring God into their family and which in turn will bring God into their children's life. And this is the best gift that parents can ever give to their children. Since luxury food, clothes and toys are temporal, only good for a period of time. Yet God is Eternal, Whom can affect the rest of their life, even eternity. And God is Love, which means you are also bringing love into the family, and from love there will be joy, peace, patience, kindness, protection, trust, hope... So how to bring God into our lives? Pray together, especially the Rosary. Have you ever heard that 'The family pray the Rosary together, stays together'? Read the Word of God with your children, set some time aside everyday to read the Bible. Attend Mass as a family, at least every Sunday and worthily receive the Holy Communion.
Whatever the parents did, often stayed in the children's memories, and whatever you feed their thoughts with, they absorb like sponge. Therefore, fill your children with the knowledge about God, Who is the source of all Goodness. In Him, they will find true happiness, and one day their happiness will also become your own happiness.
