

Calistoga Seventh-day Adventist Church

What would it be like to walk with God? What would we talk about on a stroll with Jesus? Is there a way that we can experience Jesus as a personal friend? Our message today will focus on just how to do that. David Wright from the Georgia Cumberland conference will share with us via video just how we can become a partner with Jesus.

“The education received by Moses, as the king’s grandson, was very thorough. Nothing was neglected that would make him a wise man, as the Egyptians understood wisdom. But the most valuable part of Moses’ fitting for his lifework was that which he received as a shepherd. As he led his flocks through the wilds of the mountains and into the green pastures of the valleys, the God of nature taught him the highest wisdom. In the school of nature, with Christ as his teacher, he learned lessons of humility, meekness, faith, and trust, all of which bound his soul closer to God. In the solitude of the mountains he learned that which all his instruction in the king’s palace was unable to impart to him—simple, unwavering faith and a constant trust in the Lord..”
